WOULD DELAY SILVER STREET SCHOOL WORK

Civic Planning Body Recommends Carrying Program Over.

The board of directors of the Marion Civic Planning association, at a meeting held earlier this week at Hotel Harding, accepted a report of a special committee of the association in which it was recommended that remodeling of the Silver Street school building, as set up in the proposed school program be deferred until next year.

The report was presented by Sam T. Wiant, chairman of the committee who last Monday met with the board of education and went over the figures received from bids on the Silver Street school building remodeling program. A report of the commission's action is being forwarded to the school board.

The present increase in construction costs since the program was laid out, the fact that only one bid was received for the general contract and the lateness of the season for starting the project were major items listed in the committee's recommendations for deferring the starting of the work this year.

Would Ask New Bids

The committee recommended that bids again be submitted early next year and the work get under way following the close of school.

The school program is a part of a civic program sponsored by the Civic Planning association and supported by the voters at last year's November election.

The report of the committee submitted to the board follows:

"As your special committee to report on the progress of the school program, we have been attending the meetings of the Board of Education as indicated in our previous reports.

"As their meeting on Aug. 4, 1947, the Board of Education asked us to obtain the advice of our organization on the specific question of whether it would be advisable to proceed with the remodeling of the Silver Street building at this time.

"The problem arises because the Board was able to obtain only one bid for the general contract, and because the combination of that general contract bid and the low bids on heating, plumbing and electrical work ran far in excess of the architects estimates. That combination of bids amounted to $255,272.40, and after allowing for architects fees and a reasonable amount for changes and extras on the job, it appears that it would cost at least $280,000.00 to complete the work at this time according to the original plans. Certain changes in specifications could be made which would reduce that total cost to approximately $256,000.00, but that is the absolute minimum, and certain of those cost reducing changes do not seem to be wholly desirable. The original estimate was $165,000.00.

"After careful consideration of the facts and problems involved, it is our recommendation that Marion Civic Planning Association advise the Board of Education that the Silver Street school remodeling be deferred until next year, for those reasons:

"First, the tremendous increase in construction costs since this program was laid out presents a most serious problem. We do not know whether those costs will be any lower in next year. If they are not lower, then obviously the whole program, and the basis of financing it, must be revamped. It would not be sound to proceed with the construction of one item of the program at the expense of the other items.

"Second we do not feel that the Board of Education should let any contract for which only one bid was received. It is our opinion that the bid of Baldauf Construction Co. on the general contract was in line with present costs and certainly all legal requirements as to advertising for bids were complied with. Regardless of all that if a contract is let to this sole bidder, then sooner or later somebody is going to criticize Mr. Baldauf, or the Board, or both. Bidders may be more plentiful by next spring.

"Third, this would be very [illegible] for starting such a job. No particular blame for the delay attaches on either the architects or the Board of Education. A delay of over six months was encountered in obtaining the approval of a federal agency which controlled the use of critical materials. That agency has now been put out of business. The fact remains that if work was started now it would run well into the school year, and make it necessary for at least 50 per cent of the Silver Street pupils to attend at other buildings until the job was completed. We feel that it would

New Congregation Organized Here, Plans Church Purchase

A new congregation here, the Maranatha Bible church, has been organized, incorporation as a non-profit religious organization was completed at Columbus Monday, and the group plans to purchase the church building at South State and Columbia streets now used by the congregation of First Church of the Nazarene. After Nov. 1, the new congregation will have part time occupancy of that building, while full possession is expected by Jan. 1.

This will complete a three-congregation shift which was begun when Central Christian church contracted for the Etowah estate on Mt. Vernon avenue for worship and educational and social activities of the congregation. Possession of the estate by the congregation is set for Nov. 1. This arrangement made way for negotiations by the Nazarene congregation for purchase of Central Christian church on West Church street.

The new congregation which will make the Nazarene edifice its church home is an outgrowth of a weekly Bible conference class which has been meeting at the Y.M.C.A. each Friday night under direction of Earl L. Holliday of Marion, now called by the Maranatha congregation as its pastor.

Name Defined

Name of the new church is taken from the Bible, First Corinthians, chapter 16, verse 22. The word "Maranatha" means "Our Lord Cometh." It is found used as the name for individual churches of different denominations sometimes, similar to the use of the name "Trinity" church, or "Grace" church or other names taken from the Scriptures, or, more often, it is found as the name of a Bible class within a church organization.

The new Marion church was founded to be non-denominational, of the group which incorporates fundamentalist beliefs and teachings, and although independent at present, it will later on probably seek attachment to some longer established evangelistic and fundamentalist group, the pastor said. Its main object and purpose he outlined to be Bible teaching, evangelism, and missionary ministry.

Charter Roll Still Open

Charter membership in the church is nearing 25 and is still open to those indicating an interest, it was stated. Its present organization includes four officials, with others to be elected as occasion arises. Mrs. Ann E. Holliday has been elected clerk; Mrs. Carrie F. Reed, secretary-treasurer; Arnold Ferrel, music director; and Mrs. Clara Wilkinson, pianist.

The incorporating trustees listed at the office of secretary of state at Columbus include the pastor, Mr. Ferrel, and Homer Holliday. The congregation is now meeting in the various homes on Sundays at 7:30 p. m., Wednesdays at the same hour, and Fridays at that time at the Y, for the Bible conference class. After Nov. 1 it is planned to hold services in the newly acquired church building Sundays at 2 p. m. and on Thursday nights until full possession of the property is taken. The incorporating trustees have been elected to continue serving as the church trustee group.

Edifice Inspected

Inspection of the Nazarene church building was made by the state department of inspection and public buildings July 24 at request of the trustees. Seven minor repairs were ordered, with a statement issued asserting that, with compliance with these orders, "your building should be good for a generation of service." RUBBER STRIKE IS THREATENED

Union Leaders Say 21,000 Goodrich Workers Will Start Out Aug. 14.

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., Aug. 9 — Representatives of 21,000 CIO-United Rubber Workers today threatened to strike Aug. 19 at seven nationwide plants of the B. F. Goodrich Co. unless the firm agrees to bargain upon a companywide uniform working contract and wage increases.

The walkout actually would begin Aug. 14 and be completed Aug. 19 at the final date of expiration of the union's current working agreements with B. F. Goodrich plants in seven states, the international policy committee of Goodrich URWA locals reported.

Breakdown of the rubber industry's "Big Four" bargaining policy by refusal of Goodrich to bargain on a companywide basis preceded the strike threat by the union, the committee reported. The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. and U. S. Rubber Co. now have companywide working agreements with the URWA, and Goodyear

It's Double, Double But No Trouble At Twins' Convention

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 9—It was double, double, but no toil and trouble for 150 pairs of twins gathered in Columbus today for the 13th annual convention of the international twins association.

Not only do twins duplicate clothing — in this organization they duplicate everything.

They have two officers—twins of course—for each of the associations elective posts.

They are proud of the fact "position," "pull" or "riches" can have nothing to do with membership in their organization. They are proud the circumstances of birth alone are the qualifications.

The social association has one main objective—fun for all its members—and spends no convention time on long speeches, resolutions or organization problems.

Today they viewed the city of Columbus, planned a kids party for the afternoon and were to banquet and dance tonight.

A floor-show, featuring all-twin talent, was to highlight the banquet.

Among twins gathered for the convention were 84-year-olds Lizzie Ward and Jeannie McGill of Urbana, O., leading competitors for gold cup awards to the oldest twins.

Among twin clubs on hand were: the Tulip twins of Grand Rapids, Mich., St. Louis Pairs, Mo., South Bend Twindlings, Ind., Zephyr Club of Chicago, and the Buckeye Twins of Columbus.

Tomorrow's schedule includes election of twin-officers for 1947-48, and a judging parade in front of the Ohio State [illegible]

HUNT MISSING CROWN GEMS

U. S. Agents Seek Lost Jewels Owned by Widow of Kaiser.

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, Aug. 9—U. S. agents launched an intensive investigation today of the mysterious disappearance of part of a fabulous collection of German crown jewels, and a stepson of the late kaiser said he thought the Russians were involved.

Prince Ferdinand valued the 29 missing items at $2,000,000 and the entire collection at $5,000,000. American criminal investigation department agents previously reported the missing portion was worth more than $500,000 and the whole collection of 95 pieces about $1,000,000.

The jewels belonged to Ferdinand's mother, Princess Hermine, widow of Kaiser Wilhelm II. They were smuggled from the Russian-occupied zone of Germany, and some quarters here speculated that the Russians might demand that the balance of the treasure, now in American custody, be returned to their zone.

American agents said a young woman friend of the 34-year-old prince spirited the jewels from Princess Hermine, at Frankfurt-On-Oder, to her son in the American zone. Princess Hermine died in the Russian-zone city Thursday.

Takes Truth Serum

The prince said he had submitted to a truth serum test to support the version of the mystery he unfolded to American authorities.

The prince said the jewels vanished from his trunk while he was living in the American sector of Berlin.

"Troubles never come singly," said the prince. "And now mama is dead, and I can't even go to her funeral because I am sure the Russians would arrest me because I am anti-Communist."

As he spoke, his younger sister, Princess Caroline, came bursting into the smartly furnished apartment. She said she had just returned from Frankfurt-On-Oder, where "the German police—those Communists—arrested me and made me turn back to Berlin."

The American agents said the gems had been smuggled out by a young woman friend of the prince who "risked her neck." Ferdinand was to convert the valuables into cash for investments in western Germany, the investigators said, but 29 of the best pieces vanished before he could dispose of them.

Criticizes Agents

The prince insisted he did not know when or just where the treasure disappeared.

The prince said American CID agents had used "gestapo methods in questioning me and my wife." He referred to his divorced wife, with whom he recently became reconciled.

Ferdinand said the agents questioned them for hours at a time.

Odom Passes Shanghai And Heads for Tokyo

By The Associated Press

SHANGHAI, Aug. 9—William P. Odom and his flying Bombshell plane passed over Shanghai without stopping and headed for Tokyo at 11:51 p. m. tonight (9:52 a. m. EST) at an altitude of 18,000 feet.

CALCUTTA, Aug. 9 — William P. Odom, on a round-the-world flight for a new solo record, landed his two-engine Bombshell here at 12:10 p. m. (1:10 a. m. EST) today and left for Shanghai an hour and 34 minutes later.

The flier, getting down from his plane with a smile at Dum Dum airport, said he had had good weather on the flight of some 1,400 miles across India from Karachi.

When he left here at 1:44 p. m. (2:44 a. m. EST), he was 37 hours and 51 minutes and more than 10,000 miles out of Chicago—better than halfway along his intended 19,600-mile course.

Odom began the flight at Chicago at 12:53 p. m. EST, Thursday. He made stops at Gander, Nfld., Thursday night and Paris and Cairo yesterday, and then put down at Karachi, India, on his way eastward.

He made the flight of about 2,200 miles from Cairo to Karachi in seven hours and 28 minutes and that of roughly 1,400 miles from Karachi to Calcutta in four hours and 25 minutes.

Odom landed at Karachi at 5:35 a. m. local time (7:05 p. m. Friday, EST), and departed at 6:45 a. m. (8:15 a. m. Friday, EST) after checking the weather and refueling.

The 27-year-old pilot, lean and six feet two, was out to beat the time of Wiley Post, who soloed around the world in 1933 in 186 hours.

He was flying the same converted A-26 bomber in which he, penmaker Milton Reynolds and T. Carroll Sallee girdled the globe last April in 78 hours and 55½ minutes.

His flight is taking him over some of the territory he covered as a wartime pilot over the Atlantic for the British ferry command and over the Himalayan "hump" for Chinese National Airways.

Odom's Flight First In Fourteen Years

By International News Service

CHICAGO, Aug. 9—Capt. Bill Odom's round-the-world solo hop is the first such record-breaking attempt in 14 years and the fifth in a series of famous long-distance solo flights.

It was in 1933 that Wiley Post flew 19,596 miles around northern air routes in 186 hours, the record that Odom hopes to shatter over a longer course.

Earliest of the great solo flights was Lindberg's 1927 run from Mineola, N. Y., to Paris in 33 hours, 30 minutes.

In 1932, Amelia Earhart covered time 2,026-mile stretch between Havre De Grace, Md., and Ireland in 14 hours, 56 minutes, and in 1938 Douglas "Wrong Way" Corrigan piloted a nine-year-old $900 flivver plane along the Brooklyn, N. Y., to Dublin route in 28 hours, 13 minutes.

ANOTHER HEAT WAVE IS REPORTED ON WAY

However, Another Comfortable Night Is Promised.

Although cooler weather is expected to continue in Marion and vicinity over the weekend a new heat wave is in the offing, according to the official weather bureau forecast.

Fair weather with little change in temperature tonight and Sunday is forecast for Marion. But the weather bureau reports a new heat wave developing in the midwest and that it will move eastward Sunday.

The temperature in Marion at noon today stood at 76. The high yesterday was 85 with a low of 68 last night. A year ago a high of 82 and low of 65 were reported.

New Heat Wave Forming in West

By The Associated Press

A new heat wave now covering Montana and the southern plains states will spread over the entire area between the Mississippi river and the Rocky Mountain region this afternoon and extend eastward tomorrow to blanket the lower Ohio river valley and the upper Great Lakes region.

Temperatures will soar to above the 100 mark in many localities, bringing new corn-withering weather to the midwest, just recovering from a four-day hot spell earlier in the week.

Corn was bringing new record high prices on the Chicago Board of Trade because of the prolonged dry, hot weather, yesterday, best quality corn sold at a higher price than wheat, with cash corn as high as $2.42 a bushel.

In the last 24 hours, fair weather continued over most of the nation, except for a few showers and thundershowers in northern Minnesota and the Lake Superior region and a few local thundershowers in the east coast states and in the Rocky Mountain region.

The hot weather which developed yesterday in Montana and in the area from South Dakota and southern Arkansas southward to the Gulf of Mexico forced many temperatures to 100 degrees or higher.

High readings included 108 at McAlester, Okla.; 107 at Pierre, S. D., Dallas, Tex., and Ponca City, Okla.; 106 at Shreveport, La., and 106 at Miles City, Mont.

Readings of as high as 110 were forecast for South Dakota this

THREE DROWN IN LAKE ERIE

Lose Lives at Rocky River When Wave Capsizes Fishing Boat.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Agu. 9—Three suburban Lakewood residents drowned today in the choppy waters of Lake Erie and two other persons were rescued when their small outboard motor boat stalled and capsized 100 yards from the mouth of Rocky River, the coast guard reported.

The dead were:

Mr. and Mr. Fred Pohle, and Theodore E. Farnham, 23.

Rescued were Mr. and Mrs. Leon Jameson, also of Lakewood.

Mrs. Pohle, 36, pulled unconscious from the water, was pronounced dead at Lakewood hospital, while Farnham's body washed ashore at Oakwood Beach in suburban Rocky River.

Coast guardsmen reported they had been dragging the lake several hours in an attempt to recover the body of Pohle, 37.

The five left the Cleveland Yacht club on a late fishing trip in Jameson's fishing boat, he told police. They were returning to shore when the motor stalled and Jameson headed the 14-foot craft into the wind to battle waves which were surging over the side.

Pohle then started toward the rear of the boat to help start the motor or bail out water, Jameson told police, and at the same moment a wave caught the craft off-balance and capsized it.

FURORE STIRRED BY BRITISH MOVIE BAN

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 9—Consternation among movie-goers and leaders of the film industry on both sides of the Atlantic followed today in the wake of the American industry's decision to suspend immediately the export of all feature pictures and short subjects to Britain.

The ban is in retaliation for the new British tax which the industry estimates would take away 75 per cent of the earnings of American films shown in British theaters.

The suspension was announced yesterday by Eric A. Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association of America.

The tax was announced by Great Britain as a means of helping combat that country's dollar shortage, and was described by Johnston in a statement as a measure which "in effect expropriates American film earnings in England."

Hughes Says He'll Leave U. S. If Gigantic Flying Boat Is Flop

DENIES PROFIT FROM PROJECT

Builder Says He Put "Sweat of My Life" Into Construction of Craft.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9—Howard Hughes testified today that he had "put the sweat of my life" into building his huge 200-ton flying boat and if it is a failure "I will leave the country."

The Hollywood plane builder took the stand before the senate war investigating committee to deny that he had made any profit out of a $20,000,000 government contract to build the ship after the committee had barred testimony from Hugh Fulton, its former counsel.

Fulton told reporters he wanted a chance to answer "certain falsehoods that have come into the record about me." But Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich) of the subcommittee conducting hearings into Hughes' operations ruled that Fulton could not testify.

Senator Pepper (D-Fla) asked Hughes if he expected to make any profit out of constructing the 200-ton flying boat.

"I don't see how I could have, senator," the witness replied, "since any profit specifically was precluded in the contract. It's as plain as the nose on your face that a loss had to be sustained."

Asserting that he still is spending "a great deal of my time" on the project after five years of efforts, Hughes declared:

"I put the sweat of my life in this thing. I have my reputation rolled up in it and I have stated several times that if it is a failure, I would leave the country. I mean that."

Plane Hasn't Flown

The Hughes plane, constructed under wartime contracts, has not yet been flown.

As the questioning of Hughes began, Ferguson wanted to know when the size of the flying boat was changed from 200,000 to 400,000 pounds.

Hughes said he did not remember.

Then he read his previous testimony at a closed hearing last February at which he estimated it was about two months after the original letter of intent, preceding the formal contract. That letter was dated Sept. 17, 1942.

Ferguson asked whether John Meyer, Hughes' still missing publicity man, had a hand in obtaining the contract.

"You have the records, senator," Hughes replied, "You know whether he was working for me then."

Ferguson pressed for a reply.

"I don't remember whether he was working for me then," Hughes said. "I should say further that I don't recall his working on the cargo plane contract."

Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich) of a subcommittee inquiring into Hughes $40,000,000 wartime plane contracts, gaveled down at attempt by Fulton to make a statement.

Calls Press Conference

Fulton, who served the committee as counsel when President Truman, then a senator, was its chairman, shouted that he would 'take my case to the press." He announced he will hold a news conference this afternoon in his office here.

Fulton told reporters he desired time before the committee to answer "certain falsehoods which have gone into the record about me."

Brewster produced before the committee this week a memorandum of George Meader, former committee counsel, saying that Fulton had approached him and attempted to have the investigation of Hughes' contracts limited to the "technical" aspects of the case.

The memorandum said that Fulton advised Meader against making any recommendation to the committee, but leave solely to Brewster the decision whether the group would go ahead with the inquiry into Hughes' activities.

As Fulton attempted to make his statement, Ferguson pounded his gavel, and shouted that "the committee has decided that your application is denied and the decision is final."

"I asked permission—" Fulton said.

Again Ferguson pounded his gavel.

"They have declined even to hear the application to be heard

U. S. Working on New A-Bombs And Other Atomic War Means

By FRANK CAREY

Associated Press Science Reporter

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Despite unofficial talk of new, improved atomic bombs and of the possibilities of developing other forms of atomic warfare, the official word on the subject—two years after Hiroshima—is still this:

The United States can manufacture atomic bombs.

It still is working on the military application of atomic energy.

It is carrying on "research and development work on improved atomic weapons."

Period.

David E. Lilienthal, America's atom chief, says that one of the objectives of the U. S. atomic energy commission is to "increase" this country's pre-eminence in the field of atomic weapons—but he doesn't say how.

It is the commission's purpose, he says, to maintain and increase our leadership in all fields of atomic development—humanitarian as well as military—until the nations of the world reach accord on what to do about international control.

Whether America's efforts have already produced or are being directed towards producing bigger and more powerful bombs than those already loosed, Lilienthal does not say.

Neither does he say whether we are working on bombs alone or whether we also are working on some other means of utilizing the atom's energy in a military way.

Radioactive Poisons Mentioned.

The famed "Smyth Report" mentioned the possibility of producing "radioactive poisons" that might be employed like a poison gas.

"However, Lilienthal did say this in a recent speech:

"The atomic bombs thus far used are x x x only a beginning, perhaps a crude beginning, when compared with what further research and development may produce x x x the fact is that only a beginning has been made in the destructive potentialities of nuclear weapons."

Chancellor Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago, where the A-bomb was pioneered, asserted unofficially in an article in the publication "Common Cause" in June:

"The Hiroshima and Nagasaki bombs are now obsolete. American science and technology have produced a stockpile of new and improved bombs large enough, according to usually conservative sources, to destroy every large city on the earth."

Hutchins did not identify the sources of his information. The journal in which he wrote is a periodical of the Committee to Frame a World Constitution, of which Hutchins is president.

Glenn Martin, airplane manufacturer, referred to work on a "radioactive cloud" while addressing a senate commerce subcommittee in May.

Martin is quoted in a publication put out by his own company as having told the senators: "I am wondering if the Army and Navy are going to use many atomic shells because they are now experimenting with the effects of radioactive clouds."

Further Reference.

Further reference to the possibility of producing non-exploding atomic weapons was made in a document prepared by a group of Army general staff officers for the library of congress.

Future development "may also make possible the employment of atomic weapons other than explosives," this document says.

"Such weapons might make use of the radioactive effects of particles (containing radioactivity) dispersed by means other than an explosion, thus providing the radiation effects without the accompanying blast and heat effects."

The document also said:

"The employment of such other atomic weapons x x x might be effected (by an enemy) with little or no warning, since such material would be a readily-available by-product of atomic power plants, once developed."

The Smyth report said it should be possible to extract those materials from a uranium oven and "use them like a particularly vicious form of poison gas."

Some scientists are thinking along still another line:

Whether it would be possible to explode an atomic bomb in the midst of storm clouds and have the radioactivity borne to earth in the rain.

Outlined in Interview.

Such a concept was outlined in an Associated Press interview by experts who said that the advantage of such a technique—if demonstrated—would be that a city far inland could be drenched with radio-activity without exploding a bomb under water as was done at Bikini.

Dr. Edward Teller, one of the scientists who worked on the A-bomb, believes that future atomic bombs may be 1,000 times more powerful than those used on Japan. He set forth such a belief in the Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists.

Dr. R. E. Lapp, physicist of the war department's research and development division, says it may be possible to make atom bombs more than twice as powerful as the one which burst over Nagasaki but that there are practical reasons why the size can not be increased indefinitely.

One reason, he says, is that there is no guarantee that a bomb twice as powerful as those used on Japan will have the same efficiency per pound of scarce plutonium.

Another reason, he contends, is that two small bombs can do more damage than one bomb twice the size—which he says holds true for all explosives, atomic or otherwise.

Marion Mail Carrier Lands 28-Inch Pike

Pike steaks sound mighty good but the actual confirmation would have to come from Albert Bechtle of 622 East George street, postman for the downtown area, who is now on vacation at Campbell Lake, Hesperia, Mich.

In a letter to The Star, carried this time by another postman, Mr. Bechtle said he had a very pleasant surprise when he caught a 28-inch Northern pike weighing six pounds, two ounces. The usual catch includes blue gills, perch and bass.

Mr. Bechtle said he had quite a battle to land the fish and was using just a 16-foot cane pole. His son, Richard threw a blanket around the fish after it was landed and even he was bounced around some before the fish decided he had been hooked for good.

STORY OF THE POLICEMAN AND THE ONE LITTLE BARE —Once upon a time, thanks to the hot weather, Marilyn O'Connell, of Brooklyn, N. Y., was a little bare. And, having nothing to lose, she went out looking for a water hydrant where other youngsters cooled off. She had barely started on her jaunt when up came Policeman Sid Cohen (left), and, worried lest Marilyn get lost, turns her over to her mother (right), despite the tearful protestations of the child.

Final County Fair Preparations Are Scheduled For Next Week; New Attractions on Program

Marion county farmers, housewives and children will be busy next week making extensive preparations for the Marion County fair which will open a week from tomorrow.

The best livestock will be groomed and the canned goods, produce and handiwork must be put in shining condition to be placed before the judges to compete for the many prizes. The children will be busy getting their products ready for the junior fair and 4-H club displays along with those in the F.F.A. and F.H.A. booths.

The annual agricultural show, which runs Aug. 17 through Aug. 22, will open with a thrilling show Sunday afternoon and night when Jimmy Lynch and his Death Dodgers come to Marion.

The race track at the fairgrounds may be named "suicide alley" when Lynch's troupe of precision drivers grab the steering apparatus of a large number of convertibles and motorcycles. They drive through solid walls of fire and flame, deliberately crash, rolling the vehicles over and over after hurtling 100 feet in the air.

A white horse show troupe will take over the entertainment for the night session Aug. 18. This is composed of both Albinos and white horses. Cal Thompson and his wife from Naper, Neb., will put on the show.

A speed program will start Tuesday night with three harness events with purses totaling $3,000. The three events are a 28 trot, 28 pace and a 19 trot, all closed stakes.

Two more events are on the program for the night of Aug. 20 with a 19 pace and 16 trot, two closed stakes with purses of $1,000 each. The other, an open event, is a 15 pace event for a $5,000 purse.

The horses will take over the entire show on Aug. 21 with both an afternoon and night session. The afternoon will present three open events, a 3-year-old pace, 24 pace and a 20 trot, each for a $500 purse. The night card will present three more open events for $500 each. They are a 3-year-old trot, a 24 pace and a 17 pace.

The harness session will close with a three-event card Aug. 22 in the afternoon, a 2-year-old trot and a 2-year-old pace for $1,200 each and an open event for 12 pacers for a $500 purse.

Closing Entertainment

A radio troupe featuring the "Duke of Paducah" will present the show on the closing night, Aug. 22.

One new feature of this year's fair is a show of fine Jersey cattle by the sixth district of the Ohio Jersey club.

This special department will be held Aug. 21 with cattle from five counties being shown. Fine Jersey cattle from Marion, Crawford, Wyandot, Hardin and Morrow counties will be entered in the many events. This part of the show will also include divisions for juveniles with entries coming from 4-H clubs and F.F.A. groups. Paul Jackson of Wilmington will be judge in the Jersey show. Jackson is the classification judge of the American Jersey Cattle club.

Trophies will be donated by several Marion and surrounding territory firms in the several events.

Work on Dillon Dam At Virtual Standstill

By The United Press

ZANESVILLE, Aug. 9—Work on the Dillon dam project in Muskingum and Licking counties came to a virtual halt yesterday as subcontractors packed up their equipment and prepared to move out.

Bates and Rodgers, subcontractors to the Jeffrey Contracting Co., had completed more than $2,000,000 in work on the relocation of the B. & O. railroad right of way when a congressional cut in appropriations for the project forced the work stoppage July 31.

Only a small crew was still at work, driving piling to retain the major work that has been completed against erosion by possible floods.

Nagasaki Should Have Been Atom Shrine

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK—They should have [illegible] Nagasaki without re[illegible] and saved it for posterity.

The Japanese port city is where General U. S. Grant planted a [illegible] in 1873. But two years ago today Nagasaki was visited by an even more enduring American symbol—the atom bomb. General Grant's banyan tree is [illegible] and so is a good portion of Nagasaki. What is left would make a [illegible] monument for the atomic age. It would be a good idea also to have guided tours through the ruins for representatives of the United Nations and diplomats of every country on the globe.

Hal Boyle

I can't think of a better way to indoctrinate statesmen in the [illegible] of peace. The Japanese survivors in Nagasaki have already been indoctrinated.

When I toured the city shortly after it entered the atom's hall of fame, the devastated zone resembled a vast junk yard swept by fire.

The scorched ruins stretched across the level land and the neighboring hills, and the entire area looked as if it had been smashed by a tremendous hammer of fire. And that is pretty much what an exploding atom bomb is like.

Worse Damage.

In Europe I had seen many cities more badly damaged by repeated air raids. But it gave a creepy feeling of awe to realize that the debris of Nagasaki had been created in a single terrible blow. This feeling of awe at the power of the atom bomb has never left me, and I think that anyone who goes to Hiroshima or Nagasaki shares it. That's why the big people of the world who make the decisions that count should see these civic rubbles. It would be a very salutary experience.

I walked through the charred new concrete hospital. It had withstood the blast very well.

"But every patient, every nurse and every doctor inside the hospital was killed," said Capt. Herbert Horne Jr., an American medical officer stationed there.

He pointed out one thing about the atom bomb that many people have overlooked—that it is truly a "death ray." Horne estimated that 30,000 persons were seared to death in ten seconds and that another 30,000 to 40,000 died within the next six weeks—lingering deaths from gamma ray burns that destroy blood cell building tissue in the bone marrow and burn intestines so severely no food can be digested.

Another impressive thing about the bomb is its capriciousness. Many of the hospital's glass windows were liquified from the intense heat. Yet a few yards from the building lay shattered boards and twisted mattresses that showed no burns.

In the top floor of the hospital was a room stacked high with medical records. The blast had instantaneously converted them from ordinary paper into a greasy gray powder. Such a temperature is above the power of the ordinary mind to comprehend.

I wish the world's diplomats would go to that Nagasaki hospital and let that powdered paper sift slowly through their fingers.

YOUR HEALTH

Infection

THE so-called stomach upset with diarrhea is so common in young children that it does not ordinarily cause an experienced mother much worry. She knows that it can be brought about by over-eating or the eating of indigestible foods and realizes that as soon as the abused digestive system has time to right itself, the child will recover promptly.

Thus, when the diarrhea is severe enough for such a mother to consult the doctor, it is usually a more serious matter and is probably due to an infection of the bowel with germs belonging to one or the other of two large groups. These are the Shigella and the Salmonella groups.

According to Drs. James Watt of Bethesda, Maryland, and Margaret Gutelius of New Orleans, Louisiana, such infections cause more than three-fourths of all cases of severe diarrhea in youngsters. Futhermore these conditions are infectious, and this is particularly important when there are other young children in the family, as they must be protected against the disorder.

When severe diarrhea occurs, examination of the stools to determine the type of germ causing the condition is important since Shigella germs are susceptible to sulfonamide products while the Salmonella group is not and other measures described below must be used.

Whether or not the sulfonamides can be used, the diarrhea itself must be treated. Efforts should first be made to relieve the dehydration or loss of fluid from the body. This requires giving 75 to 150 cubic centimeters, or approximately 2½ to 5 ounces of fluid for each pound of body weight. This fluid may be administered direction into a vein. If there is not a great deal of vomiting, fluids may be given by mouth.

If the diarrhea does not begin to improve under the treatment, it is possible there may be a lack of potassium, and a solution containing potassium salts may then be employed. This may be given by mouth or by injection, depending upon whether or not vomiting is present.

After the body fluids have been restored, the giving of an injection of blood into a vein, and the giving of amino acids, which are the substances that make up proteins, may be extremely helpful. This is especially true in the poorly-nourished patients. This treatment may be repeated as necessary, particularly if recovery is slow.

Rest, and a fasting period of from 12 to 24 hours, and careful attention to the diet are also helpful measures. Only small amounts of food should be given at first and the diet should be low in fat and bulky foods, high in proteins, such as are obtained from skimmed milk.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

S. L. T.: Will you please tell me something about the symptoms and cure of cancer?

Answer: A cancer is an overgrowth of any tissue of the body which is developing contrary to the rules or normal tissue growth. Cancer tissue is like the tissue of the organ which it affects, except that it grows much more rapidly and spreads into the surrounding tissues. Early recognition and complete removal of the growth by surgery or the destruction of the growth by X-ray, or radium, offer the best hope of cure at the present time.

Veterans Administration To Cut Regional Staff

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 9—Administrative personnel in the Ohio-Kentucky-Michigan branch of the veterans administration will be reduced by 531 to 8,517 "as soon as possible," branch office headquarters here announced yesterday.

The most direct effect on veterans of the reductions, caused by a slash in the VA appropriation for the new fiscal year, will be elimination of 153 positions in the VA's contact service. This will be done by closing certain contact offices not yet selected and abandonment of practically all itinerant service.

A total of 214 positions will be cut from the vocational rehabilitation and eduction program, but this curtailment is facilitated by a new VA policy eliminating the close supervision formerly given veterans enrolled in institutions of higher learning under the GI bill. No change will be necessary in the supervision of disabled veterans' training.

Brush Fire Checked With Three Fatalities

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 9—A death toll of three, nearly 4,000 acres of watershed burned out and a few danger spots along a 16-mile perimeter yet to be stamped out today told the story of the forest and brush fire in Big Tujunga canyon, some 20 miles north of here.

More than 1,000 firefighters remained on the job or ready for a recurrence of the blaze the worst of the season in southern California that began roaring last Tuesday and was not pronounced under control until late yesterday.

Two firefighters met death in the inferno Tuesday, and an elderly resident, seeing the flames approaching his home, died of a heart attack. Yesterday Red Cross officials said approximately 200 fire fighters suffered injuries.

Delaware Co. Costs Reduced for 1948

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, Aug. 9—A slight drop in total allocations for nearly all administrative offices is shown in the Delaware county budget for 1948, approved recently by the county commissioners.

Total expenditures budgeted for 1948 ae listed at $218,349 against budgeted expenditures of $223,882 listed in 1947. Actual appropriations are to be made in January.

Largest variation from the 1947 budget is seen in the appropriation designated for the county home. A total of $34,500 was scheduled to be given to the county home this year against $19,600 scheduled for 1948. The reduction is said to be explained by the unusually large appropriation for 1947 covering instalation of a new heating plant in the home.

Tip from the Smart Sex

Who is it that's first to spot—and quickest to go for—a really fresh new fashion idea when it comes along?

The ladies, of course!

And who is it that, according to careful surveys, put Buick far ahead of its price class and up among the lowest-priced three when they name the car of their innermost choice?

The fair sex—but naturally!

And who is it, when you come right down to it, that gets the most practical use from enough stirring Fireball power to handle the day's travel-jobs without strain and struggle?

Who relishes most the restful ease of wide, cushiony seats, and the blissful gentleness of [illegible] springs that make rough [illegible] [illegible]?

[illegible]

and easy enough in handling to park without a tussle, and flit shadow-light through market-hour traffic?

Who, good friends, has the family's smartest eye-for-a-buy—the shrewdest size-up of what's really good?

No one but the Lady of the Household!

So we toss out this thought to you menfolks:

Chances are that you've been hankering for the kind of thrill that lurks in this great-hearted, great-powered beauty.

You'd sort of like to get your hands on a car as big and mighty as this—if you thought the better half could be sold on it.

Take our tip—she's already sold. Favored as it is by red-blooded males, no Buick we've ever offered has won the smart sex quite like this one.

So why not pull a pleasant surprise some evening soon? Just come home and say, "Well, I placed an order for a Buick today. They're taking 'em with or without a car to trade."

Then watch her fall all over your neck!

Miss Bette Ruby Becomes Bride Of Russell Brady

IN a candlelight ceremony read Thursday evening in Emmanuel Lutheran church, Miss Bette Ruby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Ruby of 785 Merkel avenue, was united in marriage with Russell Brady, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Brady of 355 Lee street. Rev. M. E. Hollensen, pastor, officiated for the double ring ceremony at 7:30 o'clock and the custom of open church was observed.

The altar was decorated with four large baskets of white gladioli, with ivy entwined around the base of each basket, and lighted candles in two seven-branch candelabra. The three gold vases on the altar held white and blue gladioli to carry out the bride's wedding colors, and the arches at the altar were lighted with candles. The pews were marked with large white satin bows and ivy.

Preceding the bride down the candlelighted aisle were her maid of honor, Miss Martha Connelly of Toledo, a roommate at college, and the bridesmaid, Mrs. Robert Stegner of Marion.

The bride, escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of imported embroidered eyelet, fashioned with a portrait neckline edged with a butterfly ruffle which extended over the shoulders. A row of self-covered buttons trimmed the front of the basque waist and the tightly fitted sleeves ended in deep points over the hands. A circular bustle of eyelet flared above the very full bell-shaped skirt which extended into a short full train. Her fingertip circular double illusion veil fell from a halo band of seed pearls edged with a veil ruching. Her only jewelry was a pearl choker, a gift from the bridegroom, and she carried a bouquet of gardenias and stephanotis and trailing ivy.

Miss Connelly and Mrs. Stegner wore identical gowns of imported organdy. Wide gathered bands of white eyelet embroidery outlined the off-the-shoulder neckline and formed small cap sleeves. The bodices ended in points at the center of the waistline, then flared into circular bouffant skirts. Miss Connelly's gown was frost pink and Mrs. Stegner's candlelight blue. In their hair they wore bands of braided maline in matching colors centered in the back with Shasta daisies. Each carried a colonial bouquet of blue dalphinium, white daisies, pink roses and ivy.

The candles were lighted by Miss Mary Margaret Miller of Dayton. She was attired in an aqua dotted Swiss gown styled with an off-the-shoulder neckline accented with a ruffle, fitted bodice and full skirt. She wore a wrist corsage of gardenias.

William Shipley of Marion served as best man, and ushers were Edward Cutter of Springfield, Thomas Solomon, Earl K. Reed Jr., and Rex Steele of Marion.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Ruby chose a gray dress with which she combined black accessories. Mrs. Brady was attired in a black dress with matching accessories. Each wore a corsage of gardenias.

The program of nuptial music preceding the ceremony was presented by Mrs. William Ackerman Jr., organist, and Mrs. Eleanor Smith, soloist. Mrs. Ackerman's selections included "In My Garden," Firestone, "Claire de Lune," Debussey, "Intermezzo," Provost, "Zigeuner," Coward, "Liebestraum," Liszt, and "Wedding Bells," Truette, and the traditional wedding marches. During the ceremony she played "Sweetest Story Ever Told," Stults, and during the lighting of the candles, "Evening Star," Wagner. Mrs. Smith sang "One Alone," Romberg, "Because," d'Hardelot, and "I Love Thee," Grieg. At the close of the ceremony, as the couple knelt at the altar, Mrs. Smith sang "The Lord's Prayer," Malotte.

A reception for 100 guests was held following the ceremony in the church social rooms. The fireplace was decorated with bouquets of assorted gladioli, ivy and lighted candles in candelabra. The bride's table, which held a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom, was centered with a bouquet of blue delphinium and white asters with ivy. Serving were Mrs. Wayne Ruby, Mrs. Dwight Ruby, Mrs. Dominic Terzo, Miss Donna Cook, Miss Norma Shenefield, Mrs. Theodore Miller and Mrs. Cloy Hartshorn.

When the couple left on a wedding trip through the northeast part of the country, Mrs. Brady was wearing a pink palm beach suit with a brown hat, brown lizard accessories and a corsage of gardenias from her bridal bouquet. Upon their return, they will reside for the present with her parents.

Mrs. Brady was graduated from Harding High school in 1944 and attended Bowling Green State university. She is employed as a secretary in the Carter M. Patton law office. Mr. Brady, a graduate of Harding High school in 1943, served 34 months with the U. S. Merchant Marine. He is now associated with the Gallaher Drug Co.

Out-of-town guests were present from Cambridge, Akron, Cleveland, Springfield, Dayton, and Toledo.

At a rehearsal party Wednesday night given by the bride's parents at their home, the bride presented her attendants with rhinestone bracelets, and the bridegroom gave his best man and ushers tie clasps.

Marion, Galion Couple Wed In Galion Church

By The Associated Press

GALION, Aug. 9—The sheerest of starched marquisette was used in the summer wedding gown of Miss Minnie Kay Hawkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenmore Hawkins of 240 Forest street, Marion, former Galion residents, when she became the bride of Richard Auker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Auker of Galion.

The gown had a high round neckline with a yoke slightly over the shoulder, edged with a band of Alencon lace and wide ruffle of marquisette. The sleeves were long and tight with buttons closing the tight wrist. At the bottom of the very full skirt were two deep ruffles of marquisette topped with Alencon lace. Worn over a stiff crinoline petticoat, the skirt extended into a long full train. The finger-tip length bridal veil was attached to a Mary Queen of Scots bonnet.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride carried a colonial bouquet. Her attendants were Betty Hawkins of Marion, sister, who served as maid of honor, Mrs. John D. The couple repeated their vows at the altar, which was decorated with large baskets of gladioli and lighted tapers. Rev. M. E. Hollensen, pastor, officiated for the service.

For her wedding the bride chose an aqua blue crepe street-length dress styled with a bustle effect and carried an arm bouquet of pink gladioli. Letters from Our Readers

RECREATION FOR CHILDREN

Editor of The Star: As we enter the second and final round of the American Legion Junior Baseball league I would like to express my thanks to the many parents and others who have helped to make our renewal of junior baseball a success.

More than 200 boys are taking an active part (and I mean active) in our games at a total cost of only 75 cents for each boy per season. This cost is fully paid by Bird-McGinnis Post and the Marion city recreation board.

Space forbids personal mention but Attorney Bill Martin, Prof. Bill Orcutt, Coach Nelson Irvin, Coach Joe Petrich and his assistants, and Don Blinn, my assistant director, and The Marion Star deserve thanks for their 100 per cent cooperation.

Yours for recreation for all children in the summer of 1948.

HENRY G. ROEST,
Director.

CALL TO BE "UP AND DOING"

Editor of The Star: The time is ripe to start a movement to eliminate the so-called restaurants that are using the name to cover the debauchery of their real business interest.

Knowing as we do that their chief interest is the sale of liquor for therein lies their profit, and that liquor can and does blight the lives of its victims and under this guise is reaching out its villainous centipedeic claws to destroy the chastity of our girls and women and destroy the sanctity of the home.

There is no love greater than lay down your life for a friend and akin to that is the love of mothers, wives, sweethearts, and friends who reach out in loving kindness to save the lives of those who have been too weak to elude cunning used to enhance the profits of the liquor monger.

Let us then be up and doing; these meetings are of little value unless we are able to convince the majority of our citizens that this terrible crime wave is the result of the repealing of the 18th amendment.

We must vote in this coming election to eleminate drinking in public places and by so doing save our Nation from the fate of the countries that have been brought to ruin through liquor, greed, and lust.

TO REPRESENT OHIO

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 9—Gay Belcher, 17, of Columbus, and Sally Reardon, 17, of Fremont, who was Buckeye Girl's state governor, are Ohio's representatives at the American Legion-sponsored Girl's nation at Washington, D. C. beginning today.

GOLD STANDARD PROPOSED

Editor of The Star: The first step toward the rehabilitation of Europe should be to scrap the Marshall plan and in the place of it establish the gold standard. The reason for such a procedure can be easily explained.

It is well known to students of banking and finance that if the amount of gold (or money) in a nation is increased or decreased, the prices of commodities will be likewise increased or decreased. We cannot have a gold standard in Europe when almost all of the gold in the world is in the United States. The next step would be to ship all of the gold in the United States to Europe where it would be used to make money and to establish the gold standard. Such a scheme, if carried out, would do more to knock the stuffing out of Communism than anything else that ever was invented. Prices of commodities in Europe would rise and the prices of commodities in the United States would fall. The 20 billion dollars of gold at Fort Knox, Kentucky, is not even good junk, because if it were put into circulation, the prices of commodities would be boosted beyond anything we have ever known.

Such a scheme for the rehabilitation of Europe would cost the people of the United States nothing.

HUGHES

and that is not in line with any previous committee procedure," Fulton got in.

"Mr. Fulton, this is final," Ferguson shouted, pounding away.

"I have no alternative but to give it to the press," Fulton shot back.

Worked for Hughes

Hughes has testified previously that he employed Fulton to represent him but later ended the employment in a dispute over fees. He said a bill of $20,000 submitted by the former committee counsel finally was settled for $10,000.

Outside the committee room, Fulton told reporters that at the request of Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich) of the subcommittee he earlier had agreed not to ask to appear as a witness in the Hughes-Brewster feud after being asked to testify.

"But Senator Brewster got on the radio again last night and repeated certain false statements that I previously had objected to," Fulton said.

In the earlier exchanges Hughes said that Fulton's testimony would "be embarrassing to Senator Brewster."

At the same time, Hughes then was reluctant to have Fulton disclose confidential lawyer-client conversations between them.

His appearance came as the committee met for a two-hour session to seek additional data on whether $164,000 in entertainment figured in the award of plane contracts to Hughes.

The senate war investigating subcommittee has been told by Johnny Meyer, Hughes' publicist, that Meyer spent the $164,000 in entertaining wartime officials who might have been interested in the Hollywood millionaire's contracts.

But the subcommittee decided it wants to hear from Hughes how the money was spent.

Meyer Still Absent

Meyer still was missing officially. Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich) of the subcommittee issued a subpoena for him when Meyer failed to appear at yesterday's hearing.

But Hughes, self-styled "perfectionist" designer of airplanes and globe-girdling airman, was on hand. The subcommittee is inquiring into $40,000,000 of wartime plane contracts which the government awarded to him.

As far as the subcommittee is concerned, the feud between Hughes and Senator Brewster (R-Me), chairman of the full war investigating committee, was officially ended. But Brewster took to the air last night to assert that Hughes "moved heaven and earth" to stop the senate investigation into his plane contracts.

In a radio interview (WOL-Mutual), Brewster said Hughes' attorneys "even tried to get" Carroll Reece, chairman of the Republican national committee, "to bring pressure upon me to stop the case."

Brewster said that Hughes "set out to destroy my usefulness" as chairman of the committee and as a member of the senate interstate commerce committee.

MAN ACCUSED AS BEATER OF CHILD, 3

Father Locked Up in Hysterical Mood After Notifying Police.

A father coming to the police station last night in a rage because he said his three-year-old son had been assaulted and whipped beyond reason by a neighbor, was in such a hysterical mood police said, that he was locked up for the night.

The man William Dye of 557 Tyler street was released this morning and filed assault charges against George Woods, a neighbor who lives at the corner of Tyler and Van Buren streets.

Dye told the police that the child had wandered onto the property of Woods and that Woods admitted to the child's mother that he had whipped the boy. The boy's mother said that the child was covered with welts. She said the child tried to get home after the whipping but fell and was found by a neighbor who brought the youngster home.

The police are looking for Woods.

Crack Egypt Express Carrying Troops Bombed

By The Associated Press

JERUSALEM, Aug. 9 — The crack "Egypt Express," bound from Cairo to Haifa with British troops returning from leave, was blasted off the tracks by a mine at Wilhelmina, near Lydda, today, an official report said. The engineer and fireman were buried beneath the debris.

The army said, however, that no military casualties resulted.

The mine, which the official announcement attributed to the Jewish underground, blew four coaches off the tracks.

The same train was attacked by bombs and gunfire three months ago and five persons were killed and a score wounded.

Plants that would be shut down by a URWA work stoppage would include Goodrich's Akron plant and company branches at Los Angeles, Cadillac, Mich., Tuscaloosa, Ala., Miami, Okla., Oaks, Pa., and Clarksville, Tenn., the union panel said.

In a statement delivered to Goodrich officials by International URWA President L. S. Buckmaster, the union committee asserted that "unless the company agrees to meet and bargain to a conclusion on a uniform companywide contract and wage increases, the only alternative will be the closing down of their plants at the expiration of current working agreements."

Company officials yesterday flatly rejected the union's demand for "companywide bargaining, and continued their stand after receiving the statement from the union representatives.

Three Airline Employes Perish in Plane Crash

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 9—Three airline employes were presumed today to have perished in the crash and sinking of an American Airlines radar experimental plane which plunged into the East River while attempting an emergency landing shortly after a takeoff from LaGuardia field.

Airline spokesmen said two members of the five-man crew were rescued by a police launch shortly before the plane settled in about 40 feet of water last night. All the crew were New York residents.

An engine failed a short time after the two-engined craft took off for Buffalo, N. Y., on company business, and the pilot circled back, attempted to land, but overshot the field, an airline spokesman said.

"For these reasons, we are recommending that the Silver Street school remodeling be delayed until next year. However, we do that with the understanding that this Silver Street job has top priority in the program and that it will be the first of the major construction jobs to be undertaken. There is no question in our minds that it is the most urgently needed of the several projects which make up this school improvement program and that it ought to come first on the list.

Reports Bullets Fired Into New Store Room

An attempt to enter the Scherff Furniture store at 985 South Prospect street last night failed because the lock on the door at the rear of the building would not yield to bullets, police reported today. The gunman had also shot into the windows, making 10 holes in one window and two in another. The owner of the store, Harry Scherff of 659 Pearl street, reported the attempted entrance to police at 8:31 a. m. today just after he had opened the store and found the marks of the shooting. No items were missing, police said.

British Draft Atomic Questions for Russia

By The Associated Press

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 9 — A series of British questions for Moscow to answer concerning Russian views on atomic control injected new life today into the atomic negotiations which have been stymied by persistent United States-Russian disagreements.

The British delegation to the United Nations atomic energy commission announced last night that it was submitting promptly to Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, some questions which had been drawn up on London.

The British said they were ready to wait a long time for the answers. The questions presumably were drafted at top level in London and the British made it clear they expected replies from the top level in Moscow. They were said to deal with the veto, inspection, and control procedures.

The Lucky British

IT IS currently the fashion to pity the British, who are having plenty of trouble proving that Germany didn't win the war after all. But in one way the British are lucky. They at least know whom to blame for their trouble. It's those Socialists—the Labor-Attlee crowd.

As in the United States, working people in Britain aren't putting out as much work per person as they did before the war. In Britain, this is the fault of the Labor party. It's not quite clear whose fault it is in the United States.

Many Britons are sore because a more abundant life hasn't followed the war Many Americans also are disgruntled because pie in the sky hasn't materialized, but they've no Attlee to blame. They can blame the warmed-over New Dealers or the browned-off conservatives or both—but that isn't satisfactory.

The five-day week is a British headache, according to conservative critics, who think that six days would be none too much. This is more Socialist foolishness, in Britain. In the United States, where production could stand a six-day shot-in-the-arm to save purchasing power of money, it's some other kind of foolishness whose exact nature is indeterminate.

Principal accusation being made in Britain is that nationalization has stifled initiative Nationalization is to blame, it appears, for last winter's blizzard and this summer's price inflation. But in the United States, afflicted with a rainy summer and price inflation also, nationalization can't be blamed; it's not even being threatened. More and more it appears that what the United States needs is a goat—one as handy as the Socialist-Labor-Attlee specimen in Britain

Bluff That Boomeranged

NEXT uppercut to the world's high hopes will be the breakup of the United Nations in order to get rid of Russian obstructionism. This will be an even tougher break for the Kremlin, if it happens.

It then would be plain even to the Russians that their government was motivated by fears of its own weakness, rather than confidence in its own strength. In short, the Kremlin would have been trapped by its own bluff. The last thing the Kremlin wants to happen is to be deprived of the privilege of dealing with other governments on a basis giving it full opportunity for its mischief.

The Kremlin, perhaps, doesn't realize that its record in the United Nations reveals its intention quite so plainly. From its first veto, of a UN security council proposal for direct negotiations on the issue of French and British troops in the Levant, to its latest attempt to bar the United States from mediating in the Indonesian war, Russia has systematically piled up evidence that it intends to use its membership in UN to inflict its will on other governments. What it has not vetoed, it has opposed, or refused to vote on one way or the other. It has created an intolerable situation, yet can be counted on to be the first to complain when its bluff bomerangs and the United Nations is forced to save what's left of itself by excluding Russia either as a member or as a continuing factor in the creating of opposition for opposition's sake.

Stabilizing Industry

ANNOUNCEMENT that 33 union leaders have called for labor-management teamwork to increase productive efficiency is an indication of a growing sense of union responsibility for the nation's prosperity Another is the decision of the International Ladies Garment Workers union to sign no-strike agreements with union shop employers, a departure from union strategy to oppose the Taft-Hartley act, the ILGWU also will forego the demand that employers waive their right to sue for damages.

In return for pledges of full productive effort, plus no-strike agreements, work guarantees doubtless will play an important part in future union employer negotiations. But the very fact Ford was forced to lay off 50,000 because of a labor dispute in a supplier company immediately after reaching a UAW agreement illustrates one of the perils to employers offering work guarantees.

In the automobile industry—and related lines any work guarantees during recent years probably would have resulted in serious financial losses because of disruptions beyond control of either the workers or the companies directly involved. However, the guaranteed wage plan need not assure anything like full employment as a starter. Of 196 such plans submitted to the labor statistics bureau in 1945-46, four-fifths guaranteed 40 weeks or more but some guaranteed as low as 13 weeks.

With no-strike agreements and pledges of full productive effort helping stabilize industry, guaranteed work and wage agreements may become more numerous and more liberal as time goes by.

Politics in Non-Partisanship

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Results of California System Not All Good.

SANTA BARBARA, Calif—There's a heap of politics in non-partisanship. California's present turmoil shows that. At least two factions in what is loosely called the Democratic party are at war—with James Roosevelt, state chairman, trying to reconcile the irreconcilable. Gov. Earl Warren is non-partisan but Republican, if that is possible. But many Republicans, including the chairmen of the state's biggest counties, think he is more non-partisan than Republican. All this is involved in national presidential prospects and 1948 election chances.

It is hard to find any one root cause for the strange mavericksm which pervades California life and politics. It may be that California had party regularity of the wrong kind for so many years in the past

Johnson Cleaned House

When Hiram Johnson rose in the political world, nearly 40 years ago, both parties were corrupt and contented, and the Republican party was powerful. Johnson gave his party such a going over that it has not been the same since. It needed a dry-cleaning. But the legislation enacted in the Johnson era was so severe that it has since been almost impossible to build a responsible political party

Non-partisan government has been embedded in the law. Almost every device conceived by reformers has been adopted. Direct primaries require little discrimination between Republicans and Democrats. Cross filing by candidates permits Republicans to run in Democratic primaries, and vice versa. Overly strict corrupt practices laws prevent parties from creating legitimately financed organizations and encourage indirect agencies and committees. Elections become dead-letter days when one candidate wins in both primaries. Great cities are governed by people whose party affiliation is doubtful or unknown.

All this would be fine, if the voter were, as reformers like to believe, genuinely independent. But of course he is not Human beings are gregarious and interdependent. When you break thin loyalty to a political party, they lean more heavily upon other ties—religious, social, economic and what not This brings politics into religion and business, and religion and business into politics

Results Not All Good

All sorts of strange movements, clubs and cults get a foothold in politics Legislators and administrative officials respond to private interests, since parties have no power to command. The result is confusion and, in some instances, bad government.

Perhaps the situation which prevails in California is not mainly due to laws Situations like this cannot be made by law alone They have to do with the customs and character of people California is an enlightened and well-educated state. It carries education beyond formal institutions into clubs—especially women's clubs—societies and lecture forums. It lavishly patronizes everybody who has something to say People thus instructed are impatient with the traditional methods of politics

The parties have a responsibility here. They must make their appeals more attractive But with the handcuffs of law hanging on them, they cannot very well meet this responsibility. The whole thing is a vicious circle which many thoughtful people regret

Now Men Will Never Get a Break

A Chicago operator has opened a "billiard parlor of the future, catering especially to the family trade"

One by one, the masculine citadels are falling. Any day now the boys down at the corner poolroom will be surprised to hear a shrill, feminine voice demanding, "Rack 'em Up!"

Gray felt has been used on the table tops in this new establishment, rather than the usual kelly green The eight balls, one supposes, are pink or chartreuse instead of the conventional black

There'll be chintz at the windows, naturally, framing the sign which will read: Ye Olde Pool Roome, Cues To Match Any Ensemble.

Who knows In time they may even install a nursery in one corner where Mama can park the baby while she polishes up her three-cushion technique.

Yes sir, women will certainly change the traditional poolroom atmosphere. One has only thought they were smoke-filled before.

The Trough-Huggers

By FRANK TRIPP

THERE is pretty much dissatisfaction across the country with the little that has been done to whittle down government personnel and pay rolls. The people expected and voted for more action than they got.

When you talk to your representative about it he says that it's hard to bring about. Of course it's hard. It's always hard to cut expenses and it is a heartbreaking business, laying people off or abolishing their jobs. It is one of the most unpleasant things that men face who run a business.

But suppose the men who run the place where you work didn't do necessary things because they are unpleasant and kept on blowing in dough until the works crashed over their heads — and yours.

When a business gets sick, its doctors diagnose its ailment. If some of its habits have to be changed to save its life the docs don't let sentiment kill the patient. They don't let the spenders talk them away from the path to survival and health.

They find out what and whom the business can get along without and they eliminate the unnecessary until the business gets where it can afford luxuries again To be sure about it, they call in everybody whose place in the picture isn't plain and they ask, "What do you do?"

First they try to trim the costs and maybe save a skeleton of the department. If they can't do that they abolish the whole thing

When government tries that, in flock the public trough-huggers who often have a soft living out of the nonessential details of an equally nonessential task. The biggest part of their work is justifying their jobs and feeding the people propaganda about its importance They work up bales of data to show that without them the government would scuttle. They high-pressure the investigators, many of whom also have a pet expenditure which they want to protect for a very practical reason—which is votes back home.

By the time the whole thing gets added up, the logrolling over, and the logs piled up, the saving is so insignificant that the people can't notice it.

I'm talking about the flubdubs which cost billions The tomfoolery that would swamp any institution that couldn't tax its extravagances back on the people.

Too often when there comes a momentary need for some nonexistent answer, no matter how transitory the question may be, a new bureau or department is set up. A ten grand job is created for a faithful district politician who hasn't been taken care of yet, if any, and a staff is assembled big enough to administer United States Steel.

Everything that can be done to make the job difficult and complicated is put into effect Pretty soon there is a bureau as big as the one which asked the question; and the answer which could have been yes or no is so concealed in files a mile deep that the staff has to be enlarged to dig it out.

The buggers operate like it would be in a shop where men work with tools. They get control of the trick tools; they gang up and hide them. When a broken stud has to be backed out of a casting, something any handy man could do, the foreman hasn't a Chinaman's chance. He can't find the tools and when the army of experts shows up with them they bring a wagonload; though all that was needed was a screw extractor and a crescent wrench.

Try to get rid of these birds! They hang on like lamprey eels sucking the life blood of a trout. If they get wind that their cosy little racket will get the axe, they duck over to some other racket and set themselves up there Or maybe their fairy godfather in Congress gets them tucked in behind a filing cabinet in a department that's safe

There are three million people on the federal civilian payroll against an original 500,000 in 1932 If half of them got the gate there still would be three times as many jobs as before.

Half would be a one and a half million job cut. If they only average $3,100 a year—which is way low for what they're paid and waste—the saving to the taxpayers would be five billion dollars. That would just about pay the annual interest on the public debt.

A mere $13,610,000 a day.

Right Soil Query

By International News Service

WASHINGTON — The wise gardener asked, "Do I have the right soil to produce strong vigorous plants?" You can judge whether your soil is properly fertile by looking at its past performances, says John Dodge, horticulturist at Washington State college. If it produced good vegetables last year, chances are it's in pretty good condition this year. Most soils are improved when either manure or the right commercial fertilizers are added to them. At this late season, however, manure, or compost should be well-rotted to be effective. See the county extension agent about just which fertilizers to get.

Even Puppets Are Human

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9 — A vitally significant new problem is beginning to be earnestly debated among the makers of American foreign policy. It can be expressed in a simple question. What will be the result of repeated conflicts of national interest between the Soviet Union and its satellite states?

This may sound pretty academic. Yet the problem has been brought to the fore by completely concrete and frequently highly dramatic reports from behind the iron curtain The reports concern the events leading up to Soviet puppets' unanimous refusal to participate in the Marshall plan for European reconstruction The public humiliation of Czechoslovakia, which is now called at Prague "the Munich in reverse," is known to the whole world But now that the returns are in from all over eastern Europe, they disclose that the pattern was approximately the same everywhere

In Budapest, for example, the Communist-dominated Hungarian government was as anxious to become eligible for the benefits of the Marshall plan as was the Communist-led government at Prague It was never publicly announced, yet the Hungarian cabinet is now known to have actually appointed a delegation to attend the Paris conference on the Marshall plan. The chief delegate was to have been the Minister of Communications, M Gero, himself a Communist, and even the lesser members of his staff had been selected.

Then General Sviridov, Soviet commander in Hungary, requested an interview with Hungary's new puppet premier, Dinnyes In talking to Dinnyes, Sviridov minced no words According to reliable reports, he pointed out that the Soviets could strip Hungary bare through their control of German and Italian assets, that there were still unnumbered Hungarian prisoners of war in Russia, and finally that a Soviet refusal to ratify the Hungarian peace treaty would have disagreeable consequences — such as the permanent retention of the Soviet garrison in Hungary.

Listens To Reason

Dinnyes listened to this rather forceful sort of reason. The Hungarian refusal to go to Paris was promptly announced. Hungarian leaders are now frankly congratulating themselves, in conversations with foreigners, on their good fortune in avoiding the public humiliation of the Czechs

In Finland no less than in Hungary, members of the cabinet frankly wished to send a deputation to Paris. Foreign Minister Enkell is even known to have branded rumors that Finns would refuse the Paris invitation as mere Communist tactics of confusion. But Enkell, together with the rest of the Finnish people, learned that Finland had indeed refused as rumored — from the Moscow radio.

In Poland, members of the government were obviously distressed but made no plaint Some Polish Socialists, however, dared to demand the sending of a Polish deputation to Paris. No deputation went, and recently reports have come from Warsaw that additional arrests of Socialists are now occurring, on the ground that they lack "the will to cooperate" with the Communists.

Process in Romania

The process of crushing out all possible opposition is also proceeding apace in Romania. The arrests of Dr. Juliu Maniu and other leaders of the peasant party occurred some time ago. Now the party's remaining deputies have been expelled from the parliament, and just to round the thing off, a new party leadership has been officially appointed. The leaders are a certain Popovici, a cooperative but complete deaf nonentity, and Professor Zanne, who has the valuable qualification of being a protege of Andrei Vishinsky.

The important fact about these phenomena is that they are bound to repeat themselves. It is not only that the Soviet Union wishes its satellites to have no contact with the west There is a vital additional factor. The Russians also want their satellites to provide them with raw materials and manufactured goods. And the satellites in turn must depend on the Soviet Union for other goods and raw materials which they are now prevented from securing from western Europe or the United States. New conflicts must thus arise. And the bullying tactics used to secure obedience to the Kremlin's edict against the Marshall plan, will have to be used again whenever there is another conflict.

In the cases of Finland and Czechoslovakia, this presents a special problem. These nations are not yet completely puppetized. If their governments are constantly forced to subordinate the national interest to Soviet interest, the people will turn against the governments. Then the Soviets will have to choose between relaxing their present control, or resorting to puppetization by force. But even within the confines of the countries already puppetized, the same process will also work.

Daily Bible Thought

Unrighteous decrees of recent years developed from perverse writings. They surely brought woe beyond human comprehension to all concerned. No one can compel us to read such writings. Isaiah 10:1: "Woe to them that decree unrighteous decrees, and to the writers that write perverseness."

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Interview with an Imaginary Publicity Agent

"Yes," said P Humphry Buzzfuzz, "the super-dooper public relations man, "you may say that I was really engaged in a great aviation engineering experiment. It might have staggered the world."

"In fact, it did," we said.

"I came close to success, too," Humphrey continued.

"Just what were you trying to do?"

"I was trying to put cuffs on airplanes instead of wings," he replied proudly.

"You did a lot of research work on the matter of cuffs," we nodded.

"You're telling me!"

"You also had ideas for a super charger, did you not?"

"No; you're thinking of some of my notable nightclub guests."

"Tell us," we pressed, "where did you get your interest in aviation?"

"I was always a student of high flying, but it was while doing some gliding in the Stork Club that I made up my mind aviation was my field," he replied, making passes at the empty table.

"What are you doing?" we asked.

"Reaching for the checks," he replied.

"There are no checks here."

"No, but I can't break the muscular habit. Want a case of champagne sent to your room?"

"No, thanks. When you take a commission as a publicity man what do you assume to be your goal?"

"I use moving goal posts on a revolving floor."

"Why?"

"It takes the work of getting up the expense accounts more intricate and if any body gets hurt I can always lay it to mechanical failure."

"Mr Buzzfuzz," we pressed, "is it not something of a departure from accepted public relations standards to put everything down in black and white, including names, follies and liquor deliveries?"

"I want my employer to know where his money is going?"

"Yes, but how about congress?"

"I forgot they might get interested."

"Is it not the first objective of any press agent to present his employer in the best possible light?"

"That's the idea behind it all, but it got so far behind we couldn't locate it except by radar."

"It is an accepted fact, is it not, that the job of a public relations man is to build good will?"

"Of course"

"How do you explain the departure in your case?"

"I must have been using the wrong building materials"

"How did you come to do this?"

"You know how hard it is to get things for building these days There were shortages in everything except girls, champagne, case liquor, nylons, handbags and tables for twelve"

"Do you place the night club on the top level in the matter of improving public relations?"

"I'm at last beginning to wonder Let me buy you a yacht"

"How do you rate the taxicab, the flower shop and the deluxe hotel suite as instruments in good advertising campaigns?"

"Is this an interview or a cross-examination? How about three or four dinners on me?"

"Would you state your position on weddings and funerals? I mean do you classify them as strictly business?"

"Look," insisted Mr Buzzfuzz, "lemme open some wine, pay your last year's bills and charter a plane for you"

"No," we said firmly. "I have plenty of [illegible] I pay my own bills And I travel by bicycle"

Mr. Buzzfuzz arose and left us in scorn.

AUTOMOBILE prices are being upped again and we seem in for a revival of the old days when people driving by in a motor car were obviously of the moneyed class

Not on Rye

By TRUMAN TWILL

An associate has passed along a clipping, with a glint in his eye. It says Sept. 6 to 13 is going to be National Sandwich week. It says chefs, restaurants and so-on will knock themselves out trying to build the public a better sandwich.

Tell us more. Will the better sandwich be made of the same old soft-as-marshmallow bread that wads up in the sandwich eater's hand and leaves him holding a handful of soggy dough and the remnants of what passes for sandwich filling?

Will the ham in ham sandwiches be so thin that the only way a consumer can be sure it's there is to look on each half of the sandwich carefully and if he sees anything pink to shut up and take his medicine like a man?

Will dab-o'-hashery buns still resemble bloated specimens of sea biscuit, vaguely suggestive of the ones Cap Hornblower tapped on the table to knock out the weevils before taking a bite?

Will the hamburgers taste like hamburgers, or will it still be necessary to cover up what they do taste like with horse-doctor drenches of ketchup, slathers of mustard, pickle poultices and a handful of salt?

Will the commercial idea of a dainty sandwich suitable for passing at parties where the male guests leave their T-shirts at home continue to be two wisps of cardboard held apart by a mixture of plastic wood and process cheese?

Will the component parts of a bacon and tomato sandwich still be distributed in such a manner that the one piece of bacon falls out on the first bite and the one piece of tomato falls out on the second?

Will anything be done about the near-lethal practice of shoring up culinary wrecks with toothpicks that cannot be seen by an eater with myopia or felt, until too late, by an eater with dentures?

Will a grilled sandwich keep right on being something that shouldn't happen to the victims of a tribe of head-hunters, meaning there should be a law against burning a sandwich in hot oil?

Will the association for the improvement of sandwiches do something constructive about the practice of draping lettuce on sandwiches for men only, also the practice of defacing a sandwich with mayonnaise unless it's ordered?

Will anything be done about the widespread practice of making the customer pay a penalty for the privilege of having the limp bread in his sandwich hardened up by an instant's exposure to heat?

In brief, sandwich makers of the United States, do you birds have something in mind, or have you just thought up one more week to persuade the customers you have their interests at heart and would like to make them some sandwiches worthy of the name if they'll come around some time after hours when the boss isn't there?

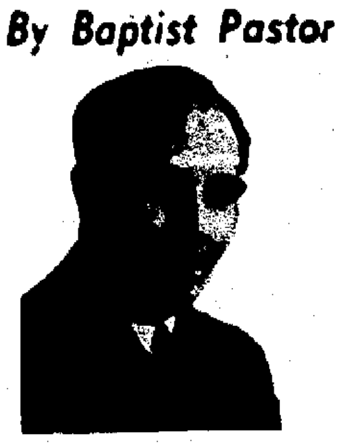
Third Anniversary Service Arranged By Baptist Pastor



DR. C. E. HERSHEY

Third anniversary of his coming to Marion as pastor of Emmanuel Baptist church will be observed by Dr. C. E. Hershey Sunday with a special morning service. Howard Jones will lead a song service, Peggy and Patsy Irey will sing, and Miss Dorotha Goyer will play the octa-marimba. Dr. Hershey will present music on the piccolo bells.

Accomplishments of the congregation during his ministry include bringing into the church an additional hundred members. The Bible school has grown in numbers to the extent of making it necessary to convert the former parsonage on North Main street into an annex for the use of classes on Sunday mornings. A new parsonage was purchased at 150 Homer street and paid for, and the missionary program of the church has increased, with the missionary budget having grown larger each year.

Dr. Hershey was instrumental in establishing Youth for Christ meetings here and has traveled widely in the interest of establishing the movement in other cities. In April this year he and Rev. Marvin Lewis made a missionary tour of Latin American countries in the interest of Youth for Christ International, and at a previous time he established Youth for Christ in Alaska.

His Herald of Truth radio program is broadcast each Sunday afternoon over station WMRN, and he edits a monthly four-page paper, "The Herald of Truth," which has a circulation of 2,500.

Bees on Windshields Alarm Kenton Drivers

KENTON, Aug. 9—Much concern was expressed by motorists Thursday morning, disturbed by the large number of bees they were picking up on the windshields and their radiator grills between Kenton and Ada on route 30-S. It was reported that the bees seemed to come at the cars in swarms. Motorists believed that something unusual was taking place and possible harm to crops was suggested.

Cliffe McNutt, Hardin County State Bee Inspector, allayed such fears with the statement that "there's nothing unusual at all in this." McNutt explained that while the swarming season is past there is an unusally large bee population in the county this year.

"And certainly, there is nothing to the fear as regards damage to crops. They are perhaps the most beneficial insect we have."

CIRCLE HAS PICNIC

The Far and Near Circle of Wesley Methodist church opened its fall and winter season Tuesday evening with a picnic at McKinley Park, followed by a meeting at the home of Mrs. Virginia [illegible] on Thew avenue. Prayer led by Mrs. John Monk opened the meeting. Plans were completed for the members to serve at an ice cream social to be held Aug. 14 at the church. Other plans for winter activities were also discussed. A picnic will be held by the circle in September, the date and place to be announced later.

Christ Our Defense

A Sermonette

By REV. M. E. HOLLENSEN

Pastor of Emanuel Lutheran Church.

"I am . . . the Beginning and the Ending, saith the Lord."—Rev. 1:8.

WHY do Christians continually point to Christ in hours of darkness? Why do the followers of Jesus turn to Him when the way becomes difficult and hard, and the path casts shadows of misfortune and trouble? Is this seeking of Christ merely the mark of weakness, an evidence of despair, a manifestation of wishful thinking? Or, could it be possible that children of God have found something worthwhile in the Christ, especially in the time of blackness?

In every age Christans have beckoned and called to men to accept Christ, to believe in Him, to acknowledge Him as Lord and Savior, and all because they have carried the firm conviction that Christ is a glorious defense and stay in any circumstance. Christians are certain that Jesus is a sure defense and refuge, because He Himself has said, "I am . . . the Beginning and the Ending." Christ assures us that He is the absolute and certain and neverfailing defense, because He is "the Beginning and the Ending."

Do we find in that statement of Christ, however, any evidence that would cause us to want to put our trust and reliance in Him? On the basis of Christ's own words, He must be a worthwhile defense, for His words tell us that,

I. BEFORE HISTORY BEGAN, HE WAS.

If Christ is the beginning, then it follows that before world or human history had its beginning, Christ was or existed. Here Jesus claims therefore that as the Christ He is eternal. Christ lived before this universe was ever formed, and before human beings were ever created. Our Christ is the eternal Christ. And, surely, an eternal Christ is the most worthwhile defense in any trouble in this world. In fact, He is the safest defense we can find, because He is eternal. And a glorious certainty about our eternal Christ is this, that He, before the foundations of the world were laid, planned to create man in His own image. And, in that planning it was His desire to be able to dwell with His creation in perfection and holiness and bliss. No Wonder that Christians point men to Christ in times of national unrest and uncertainty, and say, "Christ, because He is the only eternal defense we know, is a most worthwhile defense!"

On the basis of Christ's own words, He must be a worthwhile defense, for His words tell us that,

II. DURING HISTORY, HE IS.

Christ certainly cannot be the ending of all things without also existing not only before the beginning of creation, but also, during the time this universe continues to stand. And since Christ lives now, and even now sits at the right hand of His Father in heaven, we know that He must be an all-powerful Christ. And, surely, an omnipotent Christ is a most worthwhile defense in any trouble in this world. He rules the world by His power and might, and the dominions of Satan and hell and this world cannot overthrow Him. Even though sin entered this world, and prevented for a time the consummation of Christ's plan for His own, nevertheless, our Christ who rules in omnipotence will overrule all evil in this world so that His plan to live with His children will finally be brought to fruition. Christ is a glorious and sure defense, because the fact that He now rules assures us that even though the happenings in this world at the present time stagger our imagination, nevertheless, not one single thing will ever happen that will prevent Him from bringing to a glorious fulfillment His original aim—to live forever with and to enjoy His blood-bought children. In times of distress, in days of fear because of the potentiality of atomic energy, it is comforting to know that Christ in omnipotence rules. In allowing evil to show itself, our Savior and defense ever keeps it within bounds, so that it works for the fulfillment of His plan, and not against it. No wonder that Christains point men to Christ in times of crisis and say, "Christ, because he is the only omnipotent defense we know, is a most worthwhile defense!"

On the basis of Christ's own words, He must be a worthwhile defense, for those words tell us that,

III. AFTER HISTORY, HE WILL BE.

Think of it! When time will be no more; when this world will come to a close; when heaven and earth will pass away, and a new heaven and a new earth will be created; still, Christ will continue to be. Christ assures us that He will exist at the close of human and world history even as He did at its beginning. This fact therefore shows us how glorious our Christ really is. And, surely, a glorious Christ is a most worthwhile defense in any trouble. Let men think they can destroy His kingdom on earth; let men persecute His church and His own; the goal that Christ has for His kingdom will be fulfilled at the last hour. And that goal and end is the eternal presence of Christ with the redeemed. Let no one deceive us. Christ created us so that He could dwell with us in the beauty of holiness. While sin has prevented this plan from being carried out immediately, Christ in sacrificing Himself for our sins and guilt assures us that at the end of time, when sin will be no more, His goal will be reached. Our Savior is able to keep His children of all ages as His very own for all eternity. No wonder that Christians point men to Christ in times of evil and say, "Christ, because He is the only glorious defense we know, is a most worthwhile defense!"

Let us, then, with believing hearts turn to this eternal, omnipotent and glorious Christ, who is our defense. Let us as Christians and as Americans ask this Christ, who still rules heaven and earth, to guide us to do His will at all times. Let us ask this Savior to bless our government and its deliberations, so that every step is taken carefully, prayerfully, and for the glory of His name. Let us pray to this Jesus for a spirit of allegiance and submission to constituted authority. And, then, with Christ as our sure defense for eternity, let us not be afraid. Amen.

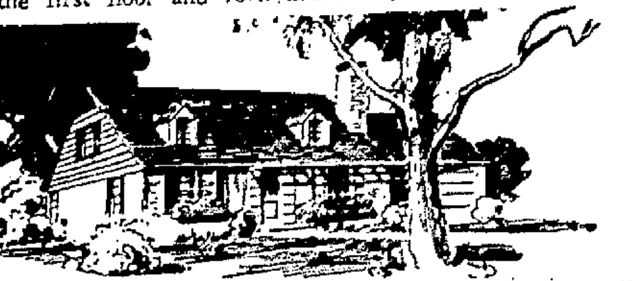
Plan of Expandable House Provides for Future Needs of Growing Family

YOUR HOME TODAY and TOMORROW

by W. Wadsworth Wood

The house illustrated is an excellent example of clever planning along the lines of expandability. In short, the owner may have a complete dwelling by completing the construction which covers the first floor and roof.

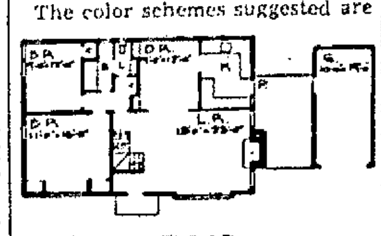


He will have two bedrooms, a living room, a bath, a kitchen and a dining room. At any time, and without any major structural work, he can have two additional bedrooms, a bath and a dressing room or child's room on the second floor. At another time, he can build a porch and a connecting garage.

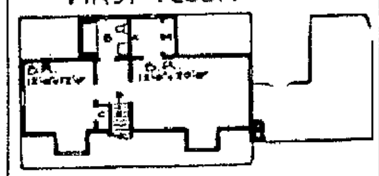
The completion of the full scheme will result in a rather large house which is capable of taking care of an unusually large family. One of the best features of this particular plan is that it provides for the eventual growth of a family, without adding very greatly to the increased convenience offered by the enlarged home. Most of the plans featured today specialize in minimum accommodations and many of them do not make provision for the owners' later years. The plan suggested here is excellent for the newly-married couple who like occasional guests, and is capable of taking care of a large family in the years ahead.

The exterior treatment of this house may include, brick stone, —for a wood exterior, white walls and trim with a dark-gray roof wood or stucco; whichever material is available locally and is the most economical to use.

The color schemes suggested are



FIRST FLOOR



SECOND FLOOR

and shutters; for a brick exterior, dark green roof with white trim and shutters; for a stone exterior, slate-gray shutters and white trim.

The land area of the Virgin Islands is 133 square miles.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Removing Wallpaper

Q. Please tell me something about repairing plasterboard. I have had my house raised, and this has left some small cracks. The rooms were papered several times, and as the house-raising tore the paper badly, I would like to steam off all the paper, both from the walls and the ceilings. Also, some of the joints are now lumpy. I would like to smooth them and then paint the rooms. Do you think it can be done?

A. Professional paperhangers have devices for steaming off wallpaper. If you remove the paper yourself, be extremely careful not to soak the board too much, for you might loosen the paper covering from the plasterboard. Use only just enough moisture to soften the wallpaper paste. After tearing off the wallpaper, wash off the old glue sizing and paste by wiping with a damp cloth. Allow to dry thoroughly. Then apply a thin coat of shellac, let dry, and sandpaper very lightly to remove all projecting fibres from the surface. Wipe off the dust. If not badly cracker, the plasterboard might be patched with spackle, mixed with paint or varnish as directed on the box. Pack this mixture into the cracks with a putty knife and allow to harden before applying paint. Badly bulged and cracked plasterboard should be replaced. The lumps in the joints might be reduced by rubbing with sandpaper. Fill any irregular surfaces and cracks in the joints with the spackle mixture.

Cleaning Fireplace Brick

Q. Please give me instructions for cleaning fireplace brick.

A. First brush off as much of the dirt and soot as you can with a dry brush. Then scrub the brick with a hot solution of washing soda or trisodium phosphate, using three pounds to the gallon of water. Use a stiff fibre brush. Or make a paste of scouring powder with a little water and some household ammonia. Rinse very well afterward and rub dry. If the bricks look dull, you can enrich the color by brushing with raw linseed oil or a substitute. In 15 minutes or so, wipe off the excess oil. This will darken the color somewhat. Experiment first on an obscure brick to see how you will like the effect. Be careful of woodwork and floors.

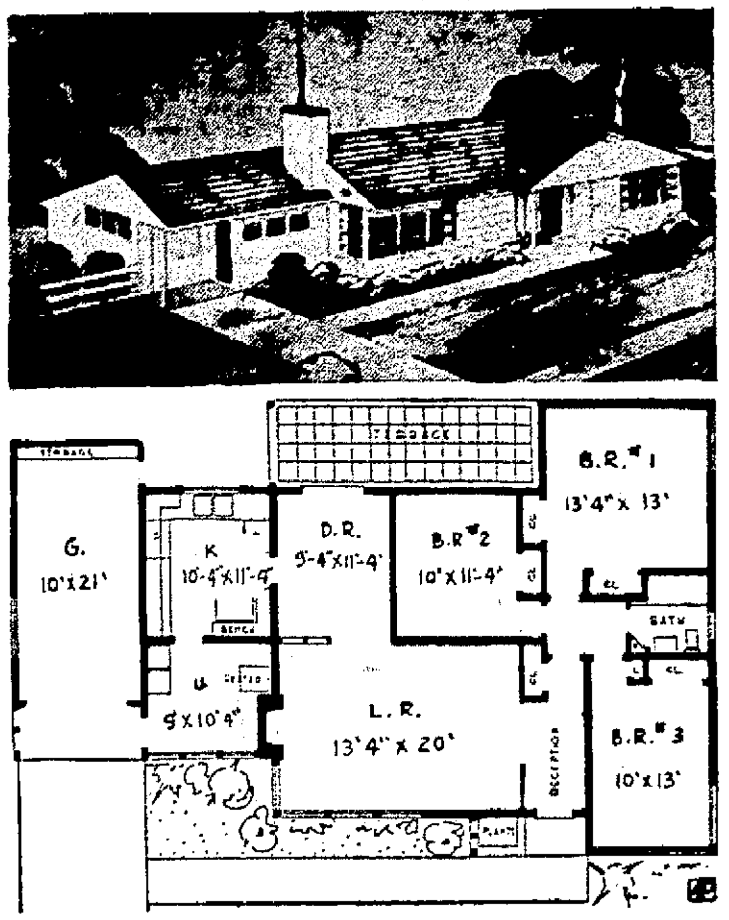
Blonde Finish for Oak

Q. My husband is making a chest of drawers out of oak, and we would like to finish it in the new blonde finish one sees nowadays. How should we go about this?

A. Excellent prepared wood bleaches can be bouht at a large paint store that will take out the color of the wood. Follow printed directions for use. After bleaching and drying, smooth the wood with finest sandpaper to a satin smoothness, and dust off. Finish with top-quality pure white shellac, clear lacquer or a light-colored varnish.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS



By The Associated Press

This three-bedroom house is 58 feet overall and requires a 65-foot inside lot or 50-foot corner lot. It was designed by Walter T. Anicka of Ann Arbor, Mich., as his plan No. 712 and contains 15,720 cubic feet, a figure that can be used to estimate local building costs. Elimination of the basement and use of radiant heat mean economy and the sliding closet doors mean ample wall space. The architect recommends frame siding or cinder block painted white with a dark asphalt shingle roof. He calls attention to the built-in breakfast nook and big living area.

Hundreds of acres of corn in the area starting at the Warren Cooper farm at the intersection of route 4 and the Monnett road were damaged by the wind and hail which cut a path about one and a half miles wide and three miles long in a south easterly direction. Soy beans in adjoining fields were also damaged. Much of the corn was blown flat on the ground and the stalks slashed by the hail which continued for about 10 minutes.

PALOMAR: Key to the Universe

By RALPH DIGHTON
Associated Press Writer

PASADENA, Calif.—Sometime this fall the largest telescope in the world will begin probing the heavens for their secrets.

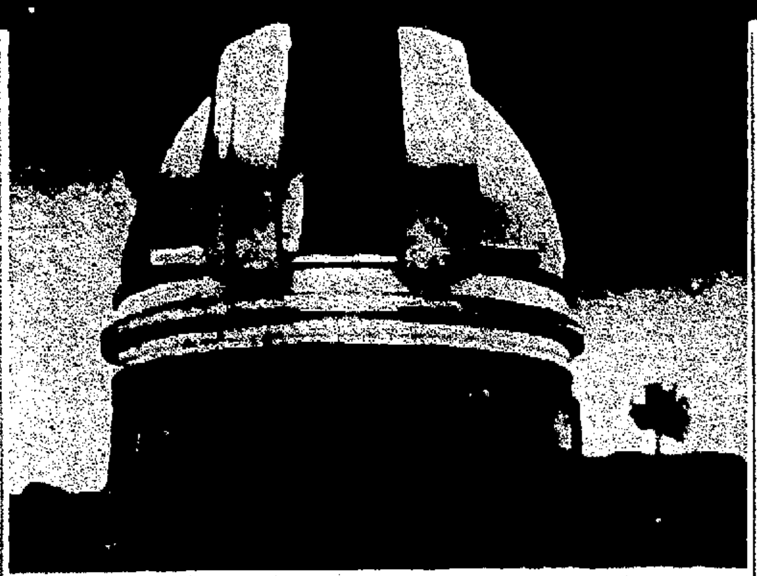
The telescope's 200-inch mirror, which is expected to bring into focus stars never before seen by man, is virtually ready to be placed in the 135-foot high revolving aluminum dome on top of Palomar Mountain.

The 500-ton instrument which will support and guide the mirror on its sweep of the universe is completed except for installation of certain control mechanisms.

For 19 years, the best brains of the world have labored to make this greatest dream of astrophysics come true. More than six million dollars have been expended. But one mishap could set the project back several years.

There is a big danger that the mirror could be overground. Polishing already is within less than a hair's breadth of perfection, but the final "figuring" goes on. Second, there are hazards in the necessity of trucking the mirror from here to the summit of 5,500-foot Palomar Mountain, 125 miles to the south.

If the mirror has been overground, or damaged in transit, replacement will require at least three years and perhaps longer.



HUMANITY'S LOOKOUT: With the aperture of the observatory on Palomar Mountain opened, the world's greatest telescope is pointed to the sky—a culmination of the dream of the late Dr. George Ellery Hale, who conceived this greatest machine of science prior to the atom bomb. Closest to the sky in the telescope is the point of prime focus where a camera will be placed to record light reflected by the 200-inch mirror.

After the mirror is installed in the observatory, there will follow another month or six weeks of testing instrument and glass together before construction crews turn the telescope over to astronomers.

Scientists are wary about setting dates, but sometime this fall they expect to be able to see a billion light years out into space with the aid of the Palomar telescope.

They won't actually "see" stars through the scope, which is actually a gigantic camera. They will take pictures of stars mirrored in the aluminum-coated glass disk at the base of the telescope tube.

The observer, operating a camera 55 feet above the mirror, will be able to see little with his own eyes that he couldn't see through any other telescope.

But during all-night-long exposures, the mirror will collect light too weak for human eyes to see and focus it on the photographic plate. Only after the plate is developed will the observer know what the giant mirror, one million times as keen as the human eye, has "seen" during the night as the telescope rotated on its axis.

Controlled by Button

The electrically driven telescope is geared to find any sector of the heavens at the push of a button. With the setting of certain dials, it will stay focused on that sector automatically, swinging from horizon to horizon between sundown and dawn.

Mathematicians have figured out that this neat little trick is like aiming a rifle at a moving 25-cent piece 25 miles away—and —hitting it at will.

Six Marion District Boys at F.F.A. Camp

Six boys from near Marion are among 29 Ohio boys who are at the Future Farmer camp at Camp Muskingum, Conotton, O. after winning scholarships in tractor maintenance and farm shop practices.

The scholarships are given as awards by the Standard Oil company each year. Winners from the Marion division are: Raymond Jaycox of Orange; George Stanforth, Berlin (Delaware); Donald Burks and Melvin Swerlein of McCutchenville; Tracey Stanley of Mt. Victory and Henry Wenig of Meeker.

PLAYGROUNDS CLOSE

Herbert Jenkins, physical education student at Bowling Green university, was in charge of the boys' program. He was assisted by Earl Wells.

CLEVELAND MAYOR USES CAR REJECTED BY CHIEF

CLEVELAND, Aug. 9 — State examiners called the city of Cleveland stingy today.

They had just discovered Mayor Thomas A. Burke has no official car and uses one the fire chief reputedly wouldn't accept, because it wasn't good enough.

In a report submitted to the state auditor on the city's division of motor vehicle maintenance, the examiners noted there were no entries for servicing a car from the mayor's office.

Made by Examiners Walter C. Jones and Jason Canfield, the report said the present situation was "far cry" from "the lush days of the '20s and '30s when city hall was almost obscured from the view of citizens coming down East 6th street by costly limousines and other cars parked in front."

Their main point was that when the mayor or other city officials used city cars, the cost of operation should be charged to the particular office concerned.

CONGRESSMAN OUSTED FROM UNION MEMBERSHIP

Local Drops Ramey Who Voted for Taft-Hartley Bill.

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., Aug 9 — Rep. Homer A. Ramey (R-Ohio) was removed last night from membership in the AFL City Employes Union Local No. 7 and members voted to refund all dues collected from the congressman over an 11-year period.

International Union President Arnold S. Zander ordered the removal on grounds Rep. Ramey's membership had been a violation of the union constitution.

There were no charges of disloyalty, but the move to oust Ramey began soon after Earl Caton, president of the local when Ramey was admitted to membership, protested the congressman's vote in favor of the Taft-Hartley labor law.

Caton now is president of the public employes district council.

Rep. Ramey joined the union April 7, 1936, when he was a Toledo municipal judge. Zander ruled elective officials are not eligible for membership.

Local President Floyd Bossler said restoration of the dues, however, was solely the local union's action.

Bob Shuford's Four Run Homer in Sixth Bests Springfield, 7 - 3

Drives in Runs To Overcome Giants' 2 to 0 Advantage Over Cubs.

Special to The Star

SPRINGFIELD, Aug. 9—Bob Shuford's grand-slam home run in the sixth inning overcame a 2-0 Springfield advantage and sent the Marion Cubs away to a 7-3 victory over the Giants at Municipal stadium here last night.

Springfield picked up a run in the fourth when Jitts Lawrence uncorked a wild pitch with the bases loaded and added another in the fifth on a walk to Bill Metral, a sacrifice and Ben Haddix' double to left.

The roof caved in on pitcher Jim Voss in the sixth. With one away, Wally Rasmussen walked and scooted to second when Carl Hosler bobbled a double-play ball by Maxhimer. Nelson Burbrink drew a base and then Shuford measured the center field fence — 364 feet away — with a four-run homer. Gene Bobzean's single and a triple by Forbes accounted for the fifth run of the stanza.

A single by Smith, a free ticket and a two-base error by Metral gave the Cubs another in the seventh with Bobzean's double and Graney's single adding an insurance tally in the eighth. Graney went to the mound after Lawrence in the seventh doled out successive passes to Bob Davis, Hosler, Haddix and Dick Vonderhaar for the final Springfield marker.

Only Dayton Wins Before Home Crowd In Ohio State Loop

By The Associated Press

It was a bad night for home teams in the Ohio State league last night.

Only Dayton was able to salvage a win before the home folks, but the Indians did it convincingly, 6 to 1, over Lima.

Springfield was trounced by Marion, 7 to 3, Muncie was blanked, 3 to 0, by Zanesville and Newark dumped Richmond, 6-5.

Zanesville's three tallies came in the seventh inning as catcher Ray Dabek tripled with the bases loaded.

Unearned runs were the big factors in the Newark-Richmond game. Newark collected four scores by that method.

At Dayton, the game belonged to pitcher Herb Benzel, who left 15 Lima runners stranded on the bases while allowing but five hits.

Hawaiians Smith and Hirose competed here for Ohio State. Ris from Iowa and Holiday from Michigan.

Pasadena club was second, and the Hawaii Swim club third.

Smith was clocked at 59 seconds for his 100 meters, Holiday in 1 minute 1.6 seconds, Hirose in 59.4 and Ris, the anchor man, at 58.9.

Meet officials said the 400-meter relay result would be submitted to the National A. A. U. for recognition as a new American record.

BECKER'S BOOMING BAT HELPS MILLERS

By The Associated Press

Third-place Milwaukee still has a mathematical chance in the American association race and as long as big Heinz Becker is shooting for another big league berth, don't count the Brewers out.

Becker's bunions gave him a lot of trouble with the Chicago Cubs in 1945 and the Cleveland Indians part of last season, but there wasn't anything wrong with the Berlin-born slugger's underpinning when he legged out 11 hits in 24 trips for a .458 average in the Brewer-Indianapolis series which closed last night.

The 30-year-old Becker, whose first-basing isn't the world's fanciest, but whose bat has been booming ever since he broke into professional ranks in 1938, drove across 11 runs during the six-game stand in Indianapolis, two of them coming on a homer last night as the Brewers whipped the Tribe 9-3 to take the series, 4 to 2.

Milwaukee's win last night left the Brewers 10 games behind the pace-setting Kansas City Blues, who finally were spilled by Louisville 6-5, after trimming the second-place Colonels four times straight. The Colonels now lag six games out of first place.

The defeat also cost Kansas City another casualty, catcher Gus Niarhos, who split a right finger in the fourth inning.

The Minneapolis Millers outlasted last-place Toledo, 13-10, in a free-slugging contest that was settled in the tenth inning on Johnny McCarthy's two-run homer. Bill Howerton's fifteenth homer of the season with one aboard in the ninth gave Columbus a 7-5 win over St. Paul and enabled the Red Birds to climb into a fourth-place tie with Indianapolis.

DELAWARE, O., Aug. 9—Columbus St. Charles fought for a chance at the American Legion Junior baseball championship of Ohio today as it met Cincinnati Bentley Post, the defending champion, in the crucial game.

The unbeaten Cincinnati team, heavily favored to retain its title, needed only to duplicate a previous defeat of Columbus but under double elimination rules the challenger needed two wins to take the crown.

If Columbus won the first game, a second game was scheduled for this afternoon.

The Ohio champion will go to Quincy, Ill., for the district tournament next week.

Cincinnati disposed of Cuyahoga Falls, 17 to 6, yesterday afternoon, and Columbus' big Jim O'Neill won a pitching duel with Cleveland's Languwski, 3 to 2.

CINCINNATI REDS FIND NEW RESPECT FOR BILL NICHOLSON

Cub Outfielder Scores Runs That Beat Blackwell by 2-1 Score.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 9 — The Cincinnati Reds, reportedly long interested in securing the services of Bill Nicholson, today had new respect for the Chicago Cubs' long-hitting outfielder.

Nicholson scored the first run in the second inning and won the game with an eleventh frame homer as the Bruins edged the Reds, 2-1, here yesterday.

The losing pitcher was Ewell Blackwell, who failed in his third attempt to notch his nineteenth mound victory of the season. He recently put together a string of 16 wins in a row.

The winner in a hill duel which saw 28 players—17 of them Cubs—stranded was Johnny Schmitz, a lefty, who bagged his seventh triumph. The Cubs got 12 hits off Blackwell; the Reds finished with two less off Schmitz.

The Chicagoans executed a triple play to keep the Reds out of the scoring column in the seventh inning. Grady Hatton and Bert Haas singled but Babe Young, after two unsuccessful attempts to sacrifice, lined to Lenny Merullo, Cub shortstop, who stepped on second, then fired to first before Haas could get back to the bag.

In the Bruins' half of the second inning, Nicholson reached second as Haas dropped his fly in center field for a two-base error, went to third as Bob Scheffing and Bob Sturgeon grounded out and scored as Merullo beat out a hit to third base.

The Reds knotted the score in the fifth Hatton and Haas singled, Young walked to load the sacks, with Hatton scoring as Augie Galan forced Young at second.

Four Run Rally In Sixth Wins 5-2 For Smitty's Nine

Special to The Star

MT. VERNON, Aug. 9—Smitty's Grill of Marion rallied four runs in the last of the sixth inning last night to overcome a one-run deficit and defeat Stone's Grill of Mt. Vernon 5-2 in the district tourney here.

The win moved Smitty's to the semi-finals Monday night. They will go against Gorman-Rupp of Mansfield, which moved up by nipping Strine's Gulf of Ashland 1-0 last night in one of the tournament's tightest ball games. Strine's was runner-up to the champion last year. Smitty's have played the Mansfield team three times this year, beating them twice.

Reid, Anderson, and Hart came through with hits in the deciding sixth inning to spark the rally. Reid started it off with a double, Hart singled, and R. Culver grounded out. Reid then scored the tieing run on a fielder's choice, Cook pulling up at first. Anderson doubled to send two more runs in, went to third on a wild pitch, and scored on the first baseman's error.

Quarter-finals are on tap again tonight, Barnes of Mansfield, defending district champ, is scheduled against Mansfield Safety Cabs and Ashland Indians are booked with Shelby Eagles.

Winners will meet in the first game Monday night at 8. The Smitty's Grill-Gorman-Rupp tilt will follow.

Tomorrow Smitty's will play non-tournament against Maumee Schmidt's Beers, northwest district champ, at Crystal Lake park at 9 p. m. and Smitty's Maids will take on the Toledo All-Star girls at 8 p. m.

TRIBE'S ATTENDANCE PAST MILLION MARK

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Aug. 9 — Cleveland's Indians, off to a head start in their five-game series with the St. Louis Browns, were past the million mark today in home attendance for the season

A crowd of 34,065 persons brought the mark up to 1,012,847 last night as they watched the Tribe send four men across the plate in the sixth inning to down the Browns, 4 to 1, behind six-hit pitching by Al Gettel.

Five singles, by Lou Boudreau, Ken Keltner, Jim Hegan, Al Gettel and Dale Mitchell, and walks issued to Eddie Robinson and Joe Gordon, put the Tribe out in the sixth.

The Browns got their lone run in the third when Kinder and Bob Dillinger singled and Ray Coleman walked to fill the bases. Kinder was sent home when a pitched ball hit Johnny Bernardino on the hand and forced him out of the game.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 9 — She came to the stadium to see the Indians play St. Louis, and left with the promise of two 1948 season passes.

She was Miss Betty Hula, 18-year-old waitress. As she started through the turnstile last night a sudden flurry of words and flash bulbs startled her.

Then she learned from Rudy Schaffer, business manager of the Indians, that she was the one millionth customer of the Tribe at the stadium this season.

Akron Golfer Leading In Esmerelda Open

By The Associated Press

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 9 — That thin man from Akron who lets his golf clubs do most of his talking—tall Herman Keiser—was perched atop the scoring ladder at the halfway mark in the $10,000 Esmeralda open golf tournament today.

Keiser's 134 for 36 holes—six below par—gave him the pace position among the 64 who qualified yesterday on Indian Canyon's wind-kissed fairways, with a two-stroke bulge on the field. Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., who shared the first day lead with Keiser at 65, skidded to second place with a 71-136.

ARMED AND BEWITCH SHARE TOP BILLING

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 9 — Calumet Farm's Armed and unbeaten Bewitch shared top billing today in a Washington park double feature, the $30,000 added Sheridan mile handicap and the $60,125 Princes Pat stakes at six furlongs.

If the fleet two-some—Armed against 10 seasoned rivals in the Sheridan and Bewitch against nine other two-year-old fillies in the Princess Pat—come bounding home winners, Calumet Farm will grab a $72,025 jackpot.

What's more, a triumph for Armed would raise the brilliant thoroughbreds's life earnings to $591,905 with a $23,150 net, if all 11 start in the Sheridan, while a win for Bewitch would be her seventh straight in as many starts and raise her cash collecting up to $146,125 with a $48,875 take.

The Sheridan will be an important Armed tune-up for his $100,000 winner-take-all match race here against Assault on Aug. 30. Only one other test, the $40,000 Whirlaway stakes on Aug. 20, is scheduled before the showdown with Assault.

Well-Balanced Pitching Staff Moving Cards Toward Flag

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

Eddie Dyer's St. Louis Cardinals are making their move toward a second straight National league pennant with a well-balanced pitching staff, superior to the three-man crew which carried the burden during the 1946 stretch drive to victory.

A year ago, Howie Pollet, Murry Dickson and Harry Brecheen had to stumble along with only occasional help from the other staff members. Now Dyer has that same trio, once again approaching their '46 effectiveness and a fine rookie in Jim Hearn plus a better-conditioned George Munger.

Munger could very well be the key to the pennant race. Last night he shut out Pittsburgh with three hits for an eighth straight Cardinal triumph, 6-0.

Brooklyn Wins

While the Birds were blanking the Bucs. Brooklyn was shutting out Philadelphia, 5-0, lambasting Dutch Leonard and Charley Schanz for 13 hits. Ralph Branca, who had failed three times in search of his seventeenth win, finally made the grade, scattering eight hits to earn his fifth shutout.

The Boston Braves overcame New York Giant home runs by Buddy Kerr and Jack Lohrke to hand up a 7-5 win in the tenth inning on a squeeze bunt by Johnny Hopp and a single by Frank McCormick.

Bill Nicholson's eleventh inning homer enabled the Chicago Cubs to shade Cincinnati's Ewell Blackwell, 2-1, in the only day game played in the majors. It was the third loss in a row for Blackwell following his string of 16 straight victories.

Boston, opening a do-or-die series against the league-leading New York Yanks, hammered out a 9-6 decision which cut the Yanks' American lead margin to 12½ games. Homers by Bobby Doerr, Jake Jones and Sam Mele told the story of the loss charged to reliefer Joe Page.

Pass Million Mark

Detroit and Cleveland both went over the million mark in paid attendance. The Tigers' total hit 1,014,807 after their 4-2 twilight loss to Chicago. Rudy York's two-run homer did the trick in the tenth, sending Hal Newhouser down with his eleventh loss. Luke Appling had a perfect evening with four straight hits.

Al Gettel pitched Cleveland to a 4-1 nod over the St. Louis Browns before 34,065 customers, boosting the season paid to 1,012,847. Gettel held the Browns to six hits while the Tribe plastered Ellis Kinder for 10 of their 11 hits and his eighth setback

A scheduled Washington at Philadelphia night game was postponed by rain.

ATHLETE INSURANCE FORMS MAILED OUT

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 9—Application forms through which Ohio's 35,000 high school athletes may receive up to $300 for injuries received in sports field competition were on their way today to 1,160 schools.

Mailing of the forms moved the state's first venture into insuring its athletic youths a step nearer fruition.

Ivan A. Davis, general manager of the Ohio Athletic Injury Mutual Association, who announced the latest move, doesn't expect all athletes to participate.

Enrollment of "five or six thousand will make us quite happy," Davis said.

The recently formed association will provide maximum compensation of $300 for injury. Athletes who pass physical examinations and have parental consent for sports participation can be insured for all sports at $3.50 a year. For football alone, the cost is $2.25; for all other sports except football $1.25.

Davis said the program should be in operation Aug. 20 when Buckeye scholastic football begins, and that he expected the association soon would receive its license from the state division of insurance.

The association, incorporated at $50,000, is sponsored by the Ohio High School Athletic association and financed by receipts from state high school basketball tournaments. A similar plan operates in Iowa, Davis said.

Former Imperial Russian General Dies in Michigan

By The Associated Press

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Aug. 9—Gen. Anton Denikine, 76, former imperial Russian army officer who later led White Russian forces in a futile three-year struggle agains the Bolsheviks, died of a heart attack Thursday night in the University of Michigan hospital.

He was taken ill 10 days ago while visiting with his wife, Xenia, at the summer home of a friend, Hilarion Bibicoff, who lives at nearby Dexter.

Exiled from his native land since 1920, when he fled to Istanbul after defeat of his white forces, Gen. Denikine found refuge in France, where he lived until coming to the United States slightly more than a year ago.

His body will remain in American soil. Funeral services were set for Monday, with burial at Evergreen cemetery in Detroit.

Son of a serf, he rose to the rank of colonel in the imperial army at the start of World War I. Gen. Denikine maintained the reputation of a Russian patriot throughout his long exile.

Runaway Freight Cars Kill Two in Caboose

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 9—A runaway string of freight cars crashed into the caboose of a yard train in the Pennsylvania railroad yards today and two brakemen were killed.

The victims, both of them in the caboose, were Harry E. Clark, 34, and William F. Archer, 33, both of Columbus.

Police said the string of 20 cars had been "pushed over the hump" and then coasted a mile. A flat car at the head of the string sliced into the caboose and three other cars telescoped over it. Two others were knocked from the tracks.

The train hit by the string was composed of the caboose, a tank car, gondola, box car and locomotive. The locomotive's brakes had been set while it waited for a clear signal to proceed off the siding.

'Black Gold' On Bill at Marion

Story of Horse with "Fighting Heart" on Double Feature Program.

"Black Gold," starring Anthony Quinn, Katherine DeMille and Elyse Knox and "Blaze of Noon," with Anne Baxter, William Holden, Sonny Tufts, William Bendix and Sterling Hayden is scheduled to run Sunday and Monday at the Marion theater.

"Black Gold" is the story of a horse with a great fighting heart. "Blaze of Noon" is an air story based on the actual history of the air mail. It concerns the "Four Flying McDonalds," who gave up barnstorming to join the first air mail line.

"Destry Rides Again," starring James Stewart and Marlene Dietrich, and "When the Daltons Rode," featuring Randolph Scott and Kay Francis, will be shown Tuesday and Wednesday.

The first picture on this double bill brings the laughter, songs, fights and action of the West once more to the screen. "When the Daltons Rode" is a saga of frontier America and has a supporting cast headed by Brian Donlevy and Broderick Crawford.

"Swing the Western Way," bringing the Hoosier Hotshots to the screen, and "Kilroy Was Here" will open Thursday and continue through Saturday.

In the first picture, the Hotshots are cast as entertainers in a traveling medicine show. A twist in the story comes to the screen when the promoter gets mixed up with a big-time gambler while trying to impress a supposedly wealthy Easterner.

"Dear Ruth," Broadway Stage Hit, Presented in Palace Film

"Dear Ruth," the picturization of the hit Broadway stage play and of successful stock company performances around the country, opened Thursday at the Palace theater and is billed to play through Wednesday. The picture co-stars William Holden and Joan Caulfield, with a supporting cast that includes Billy DeWolfe, Edward Arnold, Mona Freeman, Mary Philips, Virginia Welles and Kenny O'Morrison.

"Dear Ruth" was presented several months ago on the stage of the Palace by one of the several touring companies.

The story of "Dear Ruth" concerns itself with a soldier, returned from overseas, who excitedly looks up the girl with whom he has been exchanging leters. Unknowingly to Ruth, who is played by Joan Caulfield, her 16-year-old sister, Miriam, played by Mona Freeman, has written romantic letters to the homesick soldier in her older sister's name. During this time, Ruth has been making wedding plans with Billy DeWolfe, who portrays a highly conventional bank teller.

What happens when William Holden, the soldier, comes home to claim his "Dear Ruth," adds excitement to the already hilarious situation.

Added attractions will include an Andy Panda Comedy, "Apple Andy," a Pacemaker special, "Try and Catch Me," a sport short, "Like Father, Like Son," and the latest news.

The new attraction opening Thursday to play through Wednesday, Aug. 20, is "The Romance of Rosy Ridge." Van Johnson, the star of the picture, portrays a Yankee soldier in the period of party difficulties in Missouri following the end of the Civil War.

Short features will include a Tom and Jerry color cartoon, "Henpecked Hoboes," and the latest news.

The Saturday morning Kiddies show will feature the picture, "The Adventures of Tom Sawyer." Also scheduled are the Three Stooges, two comedies and a laugh hit, "Sweet Sioux."

June Haver In Feature Movie

Starred in "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now" on Ohio Screen.

"I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now," starring Mark Stevens and June Haver, is now showing through Thursday at the Ohio theater.

The picture is a technicolor musical based on the life of Joe E. Howard, America's most romantic troubadour who roamed the country at the turn of the century singing his many hit-ballads.

Mark Stevens plays Joe Howard, the troubadour-composer, and June Haver is seen as the girl Howard passes up only to wish later that he hadn't been so hasty. A number of Howard's songs are heard in the picture, including the title song.

Opening Friday at the Ohio will be a double feature, "Marked Woman" and "Dust Be My Destiny," being shown in special return engagements. They will continue for seven days.

Bette Davis and Humphrey Bogart are starred in "Marked Woman," the story of a hostess in a night club which is turned into a "clip joint" to take over customers. Humphrey Bogart is seen as the assistant district attorney, who is out to prosecute the boss of the mob which has moved in.

"Dust Be My Destiny," the story of newlyweds who never got a break in life, stars John Garfield and Priscilla Lane. John Garfield as Joe is released from prison after serving a term for a crime he did not commit, and only when he meets Mabel, played by Miss Lane, does he think life is worth living. But the police are after them, this time for an unsolved murder case.

Van Johnson In Feature Picture At State Theater

"Easy To Wed," starring Van Johnson and Esther Williams, and "Code of the Plains," starring Buster Crabbe and Al "Fuzzy" St. John will be shown Sunday and Monday at the State theater.

Billed as a double feature for Tuesday and Wednesday are "Three Wise Fools" and "Idea Girl." The former stars Margaret O'Brien and Lionel Barrymore, and heading the cast in the latter are Jess Barker and Julia Bishop.

Gary Cooper and Lilli Palmer are the starring players in the picture, "Cloak and Dagger," billed as the main attraction of a double feature to be shown Thursday through Saturday. Completing the billing will be "North of the Border," starring Russell Hayden and Inez Cooper.

GALION SCHOOL BOARD SEEKS BUDGET BOOST

Taxpayers To Vote on Levy in November.

Special to The Star

GALION, Aug. 9—In addition to the renewal of the two and a half mill levy voted five years ago, the Galion Board of Education has found it necessary to ask voters of the school district to support an additional mill and a half for current operating expenses at the November election. This revenue is needed to maintain salaries at least on the present level, to provide additional teachers to take care of the overcrowded condition in the schools and to pay up a deficit which has accrued in the general fund due to heavy emergency building expenditures during the past school year. This decision was reached by the board at its monthly meeting, Thursday night.

It was pointed out that funds derived from the Daniels-Cramer bill recently passed by the legislature have been largely allocated to teachers salaries and will not materially help the financial situation from the standpoint of other operating expenses.

Six additional teachers are needed as soon as building space can be provided to take care of the present and future anticipated overcrowded condition existing in the schools. Last year over half of the elementary classrooms in the city had over 35 pupils enrolled. Kindergarten enrollement next year is the largest on record.

The financial report submitted by Clerk Isabel Monroe showed a deficit as of Aug. 7, in the general fund, to be $18,889.52.

Harry J. Brumenshenkel of Mansfield, architect, attended the board meeting to go over tentative plans for the building program. Which include the building of two new elementary schools, North and South; repairs and rehabilitation at the Junior High school; Senior High school repairs and rehabilitation; heating plant, retaining wall and fence at the East school; permanent stands at Heise park; and macadamized play space at the elementary buildings.

DEAD FISH PLAGUE HITS FLORIDA AGAIN

By The Associated Press

CLEARWATER, Fla., Aug. 9—The fish plague which has darted on and off the Florida gulf coast killing fish by the tons in the last month is giving the beaches another brush.

The main body apparently has passed into the gulf, but brisk winds and rain have whipped off patches of the collection of dead fish floating along in red colored waters and sent them ashore.

Beach residents reported decaying fish drifted ashore at Indian Rocks Beach, south of here, and one observer said there was "quite a smell" along the beach. A few scattered fish washed ashore here.

Paul Flight, executive secretary of the Clearwater Chamber of Commerce, said gulf beaches have been "damaged by thousands of dollars as a result of all these dead fish, not to mention all the adverse publicity it has caused."

He said many summer tourists, hearing about the rancid fish, had "cancelled their gulf coast vacations."

Fight made his remarks in demanding that government agencies give the "correct answer" as to what's causing the fish to die.

He said he believed poison gas had been dumped into the gulf.

CORN LEADS GRAIN IN SWIFT ADVANCE

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 9—Corn set the pace for a grain market which roared ahead into new high territory with turnover heavy on the board of trade today.

Corn soared as much as eight cents a bushel, the limit permitted in a single session, and again marked up a new set of all-time records. Wheat and oats were very strong, making larger gains than any other day this week.

The September corn contract sold at 2.38¼, up eight cents and a new all-time high for any corn future. In the cash market, yellow corn brought as much as $2.48 a bushel, more than 10 cents higher than the August, 1917, record of $2.36½ which had stood until yesterday.

Cash corn sold at a higher price than cash wheat for the second consecutive day. This unusual cash price relationship has not existed here since July, 1937.

ATHENS, O., Aug. 9 — Dr. Charles B. Ketcham, president of Mount Union college, today urged college-trained persons to "take an interest in public affairs and carry their share of the burden of leadership for all the people," in a speech prepared for Ohio university's [illegible] commencement.

Programs on the Air

A special on-the-scene description of the 10th annual running of the All-American Soap Box Derby has been scheduled as an MBS feature program to be heard Sunday, Aug. 17, at 8 p. m.

The broadcast, originating in Akron, will present a running account of the final three-car championship race, climaxing the competition of the preliminary heats, by MBS sportscaster Bill Pierson, who will also interview the three finalists prior to the feature race of the day. Over 133 boys from the United States, Canada and Alaska will race their home constructed jaloppies for the coveted grand prize of a free college education at any university which the lucky winner designates.

In recognition of one of history's most memorable dates, two especially produced broadcasts will be presented on the Mutual network on V-J day, Aug. 14.

"V-J Day Plus Two Years" is to be heard as a documentary program at 8:30 p. m. with Arthur Gaeth, MBS commentator and foreign correspondent, as the narrator interweaving on-the-scene descriptions of Japan as it is today and what the natives and Americans there are doing and thinking. Gaeth has just returned from a flying trip to Japan where he obtained the broadcast material.

What the average American thought about on V-J day two years ago and what he thinks about V-J day today will be brought out in interviews to be heard from key cities in various parts of the country in a broadcast entitled "Where Were You?" to be presented on MBS Aug. 14 at 3:45 p. m.

All times given are Eastern Standard Time. Erroneous listings, if any, are caused by last-minute changes made by stations and networks.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

By the time I had finished speaking, Philip Veritzen's black eyebrows—in startling contrast to his snowy hair—were drawn together in a forbidding frown, and I saw that impatient anger, his usual reaction to anything he does not understand, was swaying him.

"Will you kindly tell me," he inquired with lofty aloofness, calculated, I knew, to reduce me to shreds, "what Mary's aunt, Mrs. Braithwaite, in Detroit, whom she has not seen for over a year, can possibly have to do with this mysterious illness?"

My own nerves were none too steady, and I decided to let him simmer in his own juices a few seconds longer.

"Mrs. Braithwaite has everything to do with it," I said calmly. "She is familiar with the family history, and Mary believed that she could trust her aunt to tell the truth about something which was driving her almost insane. She said that she wouldn't believe Dicky 'on a stack of Bibles,' and as for her grandmother, she dismissed her with the comment that 'Any good mother would lie for her daughter.'"

The great impresario was almost apoplectic by now, and I decided it was time to take pity on him.

"I never have known you to be incoherent before," he said, and I knew he was keeping his voice steady with difficulty. "But I am utterly at sea as to the meaning of this absurd talk of Mary's."

"The explanation is very simple," I said, "and I'll try to be as brief as I can."

I knew that he was restraining himself with a mighty effort from saying, "I trust so," and I hurried on.

Thought Memory Was Failing

"While Mary was at the sanitarium," I said, "she suspected that her memory was failing; and that she could no longer continue her stage career because she could not remember her lines."

"I guessed that," Phil said, with a nuance of scorn in his voice, "from what the sanitarium authorities telephoned me of her peculiar actions. They took volumes of plays away from her, you may remember, because she persisted in throwing them across the room, and because she was always in a state of nervous exhaustion after she had read them. Has she changed her mind now on that point?"

"We haven't discussed that yet," I said, with a renewal of my irritation, based on his interruption which was delaying my explanation.

"Haven't discussed—" he began, then broke off abruptly and spread his hands in a gesture which spelled his complete disappointment at geeting any information from me

"No," I told him, "because that question, I am sure will settle itself automatically now that Mary's terrible fear has been lifted."

"Mary's condition," I went on hurriedly, determined not to permit another interruption, "stemmed from her fear that she had inherited insanity from her mother, and that eventually she would become, as she expressed it, 'a gibbering idiot who would have to be spoon-fed and cared for like a baby.'"

For once in my life I saw the mighty Philip Veritzen completely disconcerted. He seemed to grow smaller in his chair as he settled heavily against the cushions, and his voice was unsteady, with none of its usual resonance.

"Good God, this is terrible!" he exclaimed. "This will mean that I never can have a grandchild."

My fingers tingled with the itch to slap his face with such vigor that the mark would remain on it for days. The colossal egotism of the man! At such a crisis in his daughter-in-law's life, to think only of his own personal angle, not even considering that of his only son!

I wondered afterward if my face had expressed my extreme disgust, or if the sound of his own words had startled him into recognition of his own meaness of spirit. At any rate his face crimsoned, another phenomenon, and he spoke hurriedly.

Something Else New

"Please forget what I just said, Madge," he pleaded, and that was something else new in my long association with the famous theatrical producer. "I really was not thinking primarily of myself, although my words must have sounded that way."

"Yes, they did," I told him bluntly, regardless of his feelings or of any adverse reaction toward me which my criticism might cause. In Dicky's parlance, I was getting "most devilishly fed up with Phil Veritzen' posturing."

"What I really was feeling was deep fear for the future of Noel and Mary," he went on, as if he had not heard me, "coupled with something that Noel told me almost two years ago about Mary's attitude toward motherhood. This explains something which puzzled me deeply, although, of course, I could not go into the subject with Mary."
